

A WAGE CONFERENCE.

Miners and Operators to Meet In Chicago.

AGREED TO CONFER ON JAN. 17.

They Hope Then to Permanently Settle the Interstate Wage Question—A Preliminary Meeting Held in Columbus. A Joint Call Issued.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 28.—The executive committee of the United Mine Workers of America and coal operators from Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois have met here. West Virginia was not represented.

It was decided to hold a joint conference in Chicago, Jan. 17, following the national miners' convention in this city. While neither the operators nor the miners will say positively that an interstate agreement will be made at that time, they are all hopeful that the meeting will result in an amicable adjustment of the wage scale for the ensuing year. In the mean time, the present conditions will remain undisturbed. The miners will decide at their national convention upon the demands to be made at the joint conference. An advance of probably not less than 10 cents per ton in the price of mining will be asked.

The following call was issued:

To the operators and miners of Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois:

GENTLEMEN—At a meeting of operators' and miners' representatives, held at Columbus, on this 27th day of December, 1907, it was unanimously agreed that a joint meeting of miners and operators of this competitive coal field be held in the Y. M. C. A. building, at Chicago, at 10 o'clock a. m., on Monday, Jan. 17, for the purpose of establishing mutual relations and formulating an annual scale of prices to be paid for mining in the various fields in the states aforesaid for the ensuing scale year; and such adjustment of differentials, as may be agreed on, and if possible, the permanent establishment of interstate agreement on the mining question; and the consideration of such other matters as may properly come before such meeting.

On behalf of the operators,
F. L. Robbins, Pennsylvania.
H. N. Taylor, Illinois.
R. S. Tennant, Indiana.
J. S. Morton, Ohio.
Committee.

On behalf of miners,
W. C. Pearce, Ohio.
Patrick Dolan, Pennsylvania.
J. M. Hunter, Illinois.
J. H. Kennedy, Indiana.
Committee.

M. D. Hatchford, on behalf of national executive board.
Attest: F. S. Brooks, Secretary.

MURDER MYSTERY UNSOLVED.

Investigation Throws Little Light on the Indiana County Tragedy.

INDIANA, Pa., Dec. 28.—The murder theory is still held by the friends of J. Milton Neal and wife, who were found dead from gunshot wounds at their home near Jacksonville Saturday night. The coroner's inquest is not concluded, it being adjourned until Thursday noon. No trace of the murderer has been found, so far as the public is informed. Frank Douglas of Indiana, son-in-law of the dead couple, scouts the idea that Mr. Neal killed his wife and himself. He points out that they were in the best of circumstances, deeply attached to each other and all their family relations pleasant.

Mr. Douglas would not state what motive could have induced the murder, but believes robbery was the main one. Members of the family think that on Friday before the murder Mr. Neal had $0 on his person. Now only half that sum can be found. Again, they say it was the habit of the murdered man to carry large sums in a big leather pocketbook. The latter was found in the usual place, but only a few papers were within. One thing which the relatives think upholds the idea of suicide is that after the bodies were found one shell was still in the gun. They say that both barrels were always loaded.

Across Mr. Neal's forehead there is a deep dent, wonderfully like a blow produced by a poker. No one can account for this, and some think the murderer first felled him before firing the fatal shot. The fender in front of the fireplace, instead of facing in the proper direction, was turned out toward the centre of the room, showing signs of a scuffle. The relatives believe that after Mr. and Mrs. Neal were murdered the murderers locked all the doors in the house and made their exit through the cellar. By the stove stood a bucket heaped full of coal, and that is taken as evidence that the husband and wife were preparing for the night and carried in the coal either late in the afternoon or early in the evening.

PROTEST AGAINST A BISHOP.

Arkansians Declare Brown of Ohio Was Elected by Fraud.

LITTLE ROCK, Dec. 28.—Colonel W. H. Whipple, chancellor of the Episcopal diocese of Arkansas, has notified the chairmen of the 58 standing committees throughout the United States that a protest against the consenting of that body to the consecration of Archbishop William Montgomery Brown of Ohio, recently elected bishop and judge of the diocese of Arkansas, is being prepared and will be submitted in a short time.

The protest will allege that one of the delegates who voted in the council for Brown was seated on bogus credentials and that fraud was practiced in the election. Brown was elected by a majority of one vote in the council. The fight threatens to cause a split in the diocese.

WM. H. GRIFFITH ARRESTED.

The Former Pennsylvania Arrested at Denver.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—According to a dispatch received at police headquarters, William H. Griffiths has been arrested in Denver by a detective sergeant from this city. Griffiths is charged with having swindled Edward J. Bowles, president of the Denver mining exchange, out of $14,016 on Nov. 26, 1892, in this city.

DENVER, Dec. 28.—William H. Griffiths, whose arrest on an indictment found in New York for the alleged larceny of $14,000 has occurred here, is proprietor of the Leadville Herald-Democrat and the Leadville Evening Chronicle. He claims that the indictment is simply an attempt to collect a civil debt by criminal process. He says there was nothing crooked in the transaction between him and Bowles, and that he has been in New York repeatedly since 1892, and could have been arrested there had Bowles really wanted to prosecute him criminal.

Mr. Griffiths has been very prominent in Colorado politics, being at one time chairman of the Republican state committee. He is manager of one of the richest mines in Leadville. Mr. Griffiths was once owner of the Denver Sun. He was formerly from Mercer, Pa.

REFUSAL BY ENGLAND.

Will Not Enter into an Agreement to Stop Sealing.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—Lord Salisbury, the premier, has written to United States Ambassador Hay in response to America's latest proposals in the Lering sea controversy, her request that Great Britain would enter into an agreement with the United States, Russia and Japan to stop sealing.

Great Britain declines to enter into such an agreement. Lord Salisbury says in substance that he has communicated with the Canadian government, which has the foremost interest in the sealing question, and that Canada is unwilling to become a party to such an arrangement as is proposed by the United States. Therefore, England, continues Lord Salisbury, whose interest is but slight, would not be justified in acceding to the proposals.

Lord Salisbury's answer emphasizes the policy of England not to interfere in Canada's foreign relations.

LINGO GOT TWENTY YEARS.

The New Jersey Wouldbe Murderer Receives Merited Punishment.

CAMDEN, N. J., Dec. 28.—Francis Lingo, colored, has been sentenced to 20 years, five years on each of two charges of forgery and ten years on the charge of attempted abduction. A fine of $1,000 was also imposed, making the full penalty of the law for the three crimes.

Lingo, who has figured prominently in two murder mysteries, was arrested charged with enticing Miss Katherine Berry, white, of Philadelphia to New Jersey by means of a forged note and a forged order on the Merchantville post-office. It is believed he intended to murder her.

The Camden county grand jury found a true bill against Eli Shaw, who was charged with the murder of his mother and grandmother.

FROZEN AND UNCONSCIOUS.

Four Men in a Boat Washed Up on Rockaway Beach.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—A rowboat containing four men frozen and unconscious has washed up on Rockaway Beach. The men's feet were frozen fast to the bottom of the boat. They were carried to a hotel, put to bed and were restored after four hours' care they recovered so far as to explain that they had hired a rowboat from a fisherman, and had lost the oars, and had been at the mercy of the wind and waves all night. It is probable that they all will recover. Their names are:

Joseph Day.
B. B. Black.
James R. om.
George Metzger of New York city.

MAY NOT NAME PAXSON.

Illinois Senators Think There Is a Chance For Their Man.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Senators Culom and Mason of Illinois called upon the president again to urge the appointment of state Senator David T. Littler of Illinois as the successor of Colonel Morri-on on the interstate commerce commission.

While it is known that the president has had Judge Paxson of Pennsylvania particularly in mind for that place, the Illinois senators believe that the president has not yet definitely decided to appoint Judge Paxson.

New Union Pacific President.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Official announcement has been made of the appointment of Horace G. Burt, third president of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway company, as president of the Union Pacific Railway company.

THE FIGHT ON HANNA.

Struggle Warm, Though Voting Is Two Weeks Off.

HANNA MEN CLAIM CONFIDENCE.

Say Opposition Is Losing—Some of Hanna's Foes Said to Be Afraid to Oppose Him—Kurtz Rumored to Have Refused to Compromise.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 28.—The sensational fight is getting very warm, although the balloting is two weeks away.

The anti-Hanna people declare that Hanna is trying to arrange a conference with Kurtz to make peace.

The Hanna men say that the anti-Hanna forces are falling to pieces. They declare it is the drift of opinion that Senator Hanna will not only be re-elected, but that he will win without the aid of a single member of the Hamilton county delegation. There are three members of the Cleveland delegation who would vote against Senator Hanna if they could secure enough additions to their strength to compass his defeat, but it is not in evidence, and they will vote for him.

The air is full of rumors, and all sorts of talk is being indulged in regarding the plans of the opposition to Senator Hanna, but the most of it comes from people who have no vote in the matter. There is considerable unfriendliness to the senator, and but for the action of the Toledo convention in endorsing him there is no doubt that he would be defeated, but the bitterest enemy of Mr. Hanna hesitates to take a step that would politically and socially ostracize him forever in Ohio.

Hon. Charles F. Dick, the political manager of Senator Hanna, arrived today and opened headquarters. He will occupy a suite of rooms at the Neil, used by Senator Sherman in his last contest for the senatorship with Foraker in 1893. Dick will be joined later in the week by an army of Hanna workers, from Cleveland and Washington, the senator himself not coming here until next Sunday. The city is filling up with members of the legislature in anticipation of the struggle and a lively time is expected. There will be an open caucus of the Republicans for senator, although that course is antagonized by the anti Hanna men.

It will be held in the hall of the house on Wednesday evening, Jan. 5. It will furnish a line on the real situation, and perhaps demonstrate who are opposed to Mr. Hanna. The best that is now expected for the opposition is for a sufficient number of Kurtz Republicans to absent themselves from the caucus, but this is not believed to be practical.

It is given out that Hon. Charles Kurtz, the leader of the anti-Hanna combine, is breaking under the stress of the campaign and about ready for a physical collapse, but this may be to cover his retreat.

FIGHT ON THE B. & O.

Some Central Ohio Stockholders Ask For a Receiver.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 28.—The expected fight between certain stockholders of the Central Ohio Railroad company and the leased road, the Baltimore and Ohio, has begun in the United States district court. A suit was filed on the part of the dissatisfied stockholders asking the appointment of a receiver for the Central Ohio, to the end that the Baltimore and Ohio company receivers may be compelled to pay certain claims for rental and to agree to certain contracts.

These stockholders allege that $1,273,227.95 is due for rental. The application, though filed here, will be sent to Cincinnati, to be passed on there by Judge Sage.

Suicide by Inhaling Gas.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 28.—An unusual suicide was that of L. W. Kampel, a tall, who was found by his daughter dead on his work bench. He had attached a rubber tube to the gas jet and from it inhaled the gas until he was overcome. He was at one time quite wealthy and had divided his property among his children, whose ingratitude weighed on his mind.

A Pair Secretly Wedded.

SPRINGFIELD, Dec. 28.—Levi H. Burnett, son of ex-Mayor William R. Burnett, president of the police and fire board, surprised his parents by bringing home a bride with him on his way home from Columbia college law school. The lady is Miss Clare Brown of Pittsburgh, who was secretly married to Mr. Burnett in that city last June. They were cordially welcomed.

All the Worldly Amusements.

YOUNGSTOWN, Dec. 28.—Rev. E. P. Edmonds, pastor of Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, has caused a sensation among his 1,500 members by denouncing dancing, card playing and other worldly amusements which are taboed by the Methodist church, but which have been indulged in by not a few members of Trinity.

Massacred Persian Christians.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 28.—Yakob Sargis of Ooramah, Persia, now in this city giving talks on Persia and Armenia, has just received a letter from friends in his Persian home informing him that a band of rangers from Koordistan had massacred all the inhabitants of a Persian Christian town, 800 souls, near Salmas, Persia.

Restaurant Men Fail.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 28.—E. W. White & Co. and Frank W. White, manager of the White Catering company, proprietors of restaurants on Fourth and Fifth streets, have assigned to A. W. Goldsmith. Total assets, $35,000; total liabilities, $31,000. The cause assigned is heavy expenses and dull trade.

An Immense Order.

MASSILLON, Dec. 28.—Russell & Co. have issued orders for the construction of farm machinery which will necessitate an outlay of over $1,000,000 for machinery and labor. The present force of workmen will be doubled. It is the largest order issued at one time in the history of the firm.

John Donaldson Dead.

CLEVELAND, Dec. 28.—John Donaldson, well known sporting man, Sullivan's trainer and Corbett's second, has died here.

M'COY CHALLENGES FITZ.

He Thinks He, Instead of Corbett, Should Have First Chance.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Kid McCoy, the conqueror of Creedon, has issued a challenge to Fitzsimmons for a finish fight for the middleweight championship of the world. The young middleweight announced that he has backing for $10,000 and will post a forfeit as soon as called upon to do so. He desires to meet the present champion for a purse and a side stake of at least $3,000.

McCoy at once communicated with Dan Stuart, the promoter of the Carson fight last spring, and offered to take Corbett's place in case the Californian fails to sign articles with Fitzsimmons.

"Even if Corbett is willing to fight," declared McCoy in his letter to Stuart, "I believe that I am entitled to the first chance. Corbett is a beaten man, while I have not yet been defeated. Fitz should take me on first and deal with Corbett afterward."

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—Fitzsimmons said that he had received no challenge or offer from McCoy.

"I do not agree with McCoy that he is entitled to consideration before Corbett," Fitzsimmons said. "I am willing to fight him when he has done something to put himself in my class."

Martin Julian, the champion's manager, declared that he would not consider McCoy's challenge.

A LOCKOUT WILL RESULT.

Striking Engineers in England Refuse Employers' Terms.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—The ballot taken by the striking engineers, as the outcome of the recent conference between the representatives of the employers and the men, has resulted in a rejection of the proposed compromise by 100 to 1, while the trades unions' proposal of 51 hours weekly instead of 48 has been rejected by a majority almost as large.

The ballot, therefore, is practically tantamount to a vote of no confidence in the leaders of the men. It is understood that the conference will not be resumed.

The lockout will now commence, though it is reported that several firms intend to open their shops to men willing to work on the employers' terms.

May Appoint North.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—The president is considering the qualifications of several men for the position of director of the twelfth census, but as yet has not indicated whom he may appoint. Mr. S. N. D. North of Boston, secretary of the National Association of Wool Manufacturers, who was identified with the eleventh census and is a statistician of ability, is one of those whose names are under earnest consideration.

Luetgert in a Jolly Mood.

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—Luetgert's fifty-second birthday came on yesterday and while his trial was in session, before Judge Gary, he wore a rose in his buttonhole, to celebrate the event. He was in a good humor and frequently laughed as Mrs. Agatha Tosch told of damaging statements he had made to her.

A $500,000 In London.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—A fire broke out in the drygoods store of Messrs. Jermyn & Perry, High street, Kings Lynn (Lynn-Regis) Norfolk. The local fire engine collapsed and the flames spread rapidly, soon destroying a number of the adjoining business houses. The total damage is estimated at £100,000 ($500,000).

The President May Attend.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Representative Prince of Illinois has extended to the president an invitation to attend the national encampment of the Union Veterans' Union to be held at Rock Island, Ills., next August. It is expected that the president will make a tour of the west about that time, visiting the Omaha exposition enroute. Mr. Prince was assured that the president would be glad to attend the encampment and would do so if official engagements would permit.

Electric Companies Consolidate.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 28.—The Missouri Electric Light and Power company and the Edison Electrical company, two of the largest concerns of their kind in the city, have been consolidated. The new concern will, it is stated, issue $4,000,000 of gold-bearing bonds.

THE DISTRESS IN CUBA

President McKinley Receives Woeful Information.

AMERICANS SHOULD SEND AID.

The Sum of $5,000 Received and Sent by Telegraph to Consul General Lee This Morning—Contributions Should Be Sent to Him Direct.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—The most profound distress prevails among many thousands of people in Cuba. Starvation not only impends, but is an actual fact. The president has been informed of the facts from sources whose credibility cannot be doubted. He has gone to the length of his constitutional power in calling the state of affairs to the attention of the American people. The state department has used all of its authority to mitigate the conditions there and the letter to the public sent out by Secretary Sherman the day before Christmas pointed out the way to further alleviate the miserable condition of the reconcentrados.

The sum of $5,000 has been received by Assistant Secretary Day from certain charitably disposed persons whose names are not disclosed, and this sum was remitted by telegraph early this morning to Consul General Lee for disbursement among the more pressing cases. It is hoped by the department of state that the American people will come to the relief, and that promptly, by subscriptions of money, clothing and supplies of various kinds. The newspapers are expected to lend a generous aid in carrying forward this movement.

The machinery for distribution has been provided by the state department, and Consul General Lee has undertaken, with the aid of the American consular officers in Cuba, to give personal attention to the alleviation of distress by the distribution of the gifts of the American people. One line of steamers plying between New York and Havana—the Ward line—it is said, has undertaken to forward any contributions of goods to General Lee at Havana, and it is believed that the American railroads will do their part by carrying the goods to the seaboard. The Spanish authorities have consented to remit all duties on relief supplies so forwarded. The state department directs that they be sent direct to Consul General Lee, either money by draft or check or goods. Consul General Lee cabled the state department just what is wanting at this juncture, and his list is as follows:

Summer clothing, second hand or otherwise, principally for women and children; medicines for fevers, including a large proportion of quinine; hard bread, cornmeal, bacon, rice, lard, potatoes, beans, peas, salt fish, principally codfish; any canned goods, especially condensed milk for the starving children. Money will also be useful to secure nurses, medicines and for many other necessary purposes.

SURPRISING TO THE OFFICIALS.

Nothing in Woodford's Note That Should Madden the Spaniards.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—The officials here are somewhat surprised at the exhibition of feeling at Madrid over the latest note of Minister Woodford, delivered to the Spanish foreign office the day before Christmas. While the note itself will not be made public at present, it is said that there is no reason whatever why it should be withheld, save the fact that the preceding steps in the negotiations have not seen the light in the newspapers, and it is desirable, when a publication is made, to serve the complete chain of events in natural order.

Possibly the correspondence will shortly be called for by congress, in which case it is not likely to be withheld on grounds of public policy. The last note presented by Minister Woodford was in answer to the Spanish note called forth by Mr. Woodford's very first note after his arrival at Madrid. In the initial note, the United States minister pointed out the interest of his country in an early termination of the present struggle in Cuba and asked when such a conclusion could be expected. The Spanish government in its reply acknowledged our interest in the matter, but suggested, after stating what it intended to do to ameliorate conditions in Cuba, that the United States could best exercise its good offices by stopping filibustering. To this Mr. Woodford responded with his note of last week.

It is said to be a purely argumentative statement of the position taken by the United States, and the facts set out are substantially those so strongly drawn in the president's message to congress, of which it was supposed the Spanish public had been fully advised through the newspapers. The most forcible statement in the note is based upon the fact collected and published recently by the United States treasury department exhibiting the great expense to which the United States had been put by reason of its effort to patrol an enormous coast line in the pursuit of a few filibusters, and the remarkable success of the government officials in stopping these expeditions, as contrasted with the feeble efforts of the Spanish authorities to maintain a patrol around the island of Cuba.

THE LUMBER WOODS.

LIFE OF MICHIGAN LUMBERMEN IN THE WINTER.

Their Hardships and Dangers and Their Pay—Rates of Wages Higher Than Last Year—Ways of the Woods—How They Spend Their Earnings.

The effects of returning prosperity have made themselves felt in the lumber woods of Michigan in a considerable advance in the wages paid to woodsmen. Rates are from $4 to $6 a month higher than they were last year.

It is said that 21 camps are running in the Marquette region this season, employing 1,100 men—an increase of 50 to 75 per cent over last year. Operations were begun considerably earlier than usual, and wages, it is said, will average $24 a month and board instead of $12 to $18 and board, as did the ruling rates last season.

Labor in the woods presents some rather peculiar conditions. Unions are quite unknown in the camps, the wandering habits of the average woodsman making organization difficult if not impossible. Consequently the scale of wages is almost invariably fixed by the employer, though regulated more or less by the law of supply and demand. It often happens that the men do not know what their wages will be until they are paid off at the end of the job. Again, they are dependent on their employers for board and lodging, and wages are therefore placed at a certain amount a month in addition to these requirements. When a timber operator says that he is paying $20 or $26, he means that his men are receiving that sum in addition to their board.

Although wages are nominally by the month, they are practically by the day, for a man is expected to work 26 full days for a month's pay, and if he loses any time a proportionate sum is deducted from the amount due him. Some camps make an exception to this rule in cases of very stormy weather when the crew is obliged to lay off and give the men credit for the full time, but this is not always done.

Of ordinary workmen in the woods teamsters and canthook men perhaps are the best paid. The hook men are employed to pile up the logs on skidways or sleighs. The work is laborious and somewhat dangerous, requiring a quick eye, an active, muscular body and the steadiest of nerves. Teaming requires less muscular effort, but the hours are long, for the horses must be fed very early in the morning and must have more or less attention in the evening. It is cold work to sit still on a load of logs from morning till night, and the teamsters are the only men in camp who wear overcoats.

The fitters and sawyers come next in the scale of wages. The fitters prepare the timber for felling, decide which way each tree shall fall and where it shall lie, and notch the trunk in such a way that when sawed through it shall topple over in the right direction. Usually they are expert axmen. The sawyers handle the crosscut saws, fell the trees and cut the trunks into logs of the proper length.

In addition to these there are men engaged in cutting roads, making skidways and "swamping" who generally receive smaller pay. Their work is mainly done with the ax. Trees standing in the roadway are often taken out by the roots and the ground leveled to a smooth path. A skidway consists of two long, heavy poles, or skids, placed upon the ground parallel with each other and about five feet apart, one end at the edge of the roadway and the other reaching back at right angles with it. They are held firmly in position by stakes driven into the ground and by braces reaching from one to the other, forming a foundation for the log pile which is placed upon them. "Swamping" is a term applied by the lumbermen to the cutting of narrow paths from the skidways to the fallen trees, over which the logs may be drawn by the horses.

In the pulp wood camps, which are becoming more numerous year by year, arrangements are somewhat different. In some cases the cutting is done by the cord, the men being paid about 80 cents for a cord of four foot lengths. In others the payment is by the cord, but at a somewhat smaller rate, and the wood is left in sticks 12 or 16 feet. The amount cut by each man is estimated by counting the sticks, a certain number, varying according to the size of the timber, being considered equivalent to a cord. Still other camps pay their cutters by the month, but expect them to cut a certain number of sticks a day—100 usually. As a rule there are no cant hook men in a pulp wood camp, the timber being "decked," or piled up on the skids by hand instead of with hooks. Teamsters and swampers are much the same as they are in the pine camps.

With the beginning of the sleigh haul the road men—or, as they are sometimes less elegantly called, the "road monkeys," or "road hogs"—will be set to work. It is their business to go over the roads traversed by the heavy loads of timber and keep them clean and in good repair. Their work requires very little skill, and they are among the poorest paid men in the camp.

Besides these members of the crew each camp has its foreman, cook, blacksmith and office boy, and in some cases a cookee, a clerk and a scaler. The foreman's wages vary greatly with the size of the operation and the number of men under him, $50 or more a month being paid in the larger camps. The cook often receives nearly as much. The blacksmith probably receives $26 to $30 a month, and the chore boy $15 to $20. All these figures, of course, are in addition to board. The cookee is usually an apprentice, who is learning the trade, and his wages are small. The clerks and the scaler are not properly woodsmen, and their pay varies according to the work they have to do.

Of all the woodsmen, those who receive the best pay are the river drivers. Their wages are often $2 and $2.50 a day, but their work is the hardest, the most wearing and the most dangerous. Their hours are very long, their clothing is frequently soaked with icy water, and death by drowning is not a very rare occurrence.

There are among the woodsmen some family men who are careful and saving, but a large part of them make their way to the nearest town as soon as the camps break up in the spring and spend their winter's stakes in a few days of drunkenness and riotous living. Sometimes the shanty boy will take his money to some saloon keeper and tell him to keep it and let him know when it is all used up. Then he drinks, treats and gambles on account till the saloon keeper tells him that the money is gone. Then he makes his way to some river drivers' camp and in a few weeks makes another stake as large perhaps as that earned in the whole previous winter. This, too, is blown in like the first, and the now thoroughly "busted" lumber jack takes to the railroad track to look for any job that will keep him in food and clothing until another logging season begins.—Chicago Record.

MEMORIZED THE BIBLE.

Deaf and Blind Colored Boy Who Can Quote Scripture Correctly.

"While visiting an old friend on the Tennessee river near where Shannon's creek empties in the larger stream not long since," said a country minister, "I saw a negro lad of 12 who is as great a wonder to me as Helen Keller, the world famous blind girl and deaf mute. He lives in a typical Kentucky backwoods community and has had no advantages.

"My friend asked me if I would like to see the youth, and I assured him I would. We went to the child's home, if the little lad might be termed home, and before I left it I had opened my eyes wide in astonishment. The boy was born deaf and blind and with one arm. He was for years, while a mere tot, called 'the freak' by the negroes, who unfeelingly poked fun at the unfortunate. This child was given a raised letter Bible by an old nomadic missionary who happened to see the pickaninny while preaching to the negroes, and from it the boy learned every chapter in the Bible. He can quote any verse in the Scriptures and do it quickly. He spends every hour of his time in studying God's word and says he is going to teach the blind children of his race. The lad's name is Harry William Balaam Freeman, and he is a good looking mulatto. I am going to get some friends of mine to join me in a collection to be sent the boy to further his studies. His mother works in the field, and his father is a steamboat roustabout."—Louisville Post.

NOVEL HORSE TRADING.

Arcola Man Who Exchanged Sandwiches For One Rues His Bargain.

Frank Devore of Arcola, Ills., was the owner of a horse, wagon and harness which he had used for doing odd jobs of hauling. A few nights ago Devore drove the rig up in front of John Shea's restaurant on North Oak street. Shea came out and jokingly bantered Devore for a trade or offered to purchase the outfit outright, providing a satisfactory agreement could be reached. Devore asked Shea to make him an offer, which he did.

"I will give you five ham sandwiches off my lunch counter for the outfit," said Shea.

"It's a trade," was Devore's laconic rejoinder, and the property was exchanged.

During the night the horse got loose, broke into the corn bin and ate more than his cash value, putting corn at 20 cents. The next morning Shea became sick of his bargain, sent for Devore and offered him 25 cents to take the animal off his hands. Devore was condescending and took the horse and wagon and the 25 cents. Shortly afterward he drove the outfit around on Main street and disposed of it to a peddler for $1.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Simultaneously a young Cornish lady had three suitors, representing the church, the army and the navy. The reverend gentleman had a great advantage over his rivals, being always "on the spot." Referring to his rivals in conversation with the lady on one occasion, he made the highly interesting observation that there were "land rats and water rats."

"And cu-rats," retorted the lady. Needless to say the parson had to look elsewhere for a wife.—London News.

The Reproach of Men.

ANOTHER WINDOW FIRE

Called Out the Department This Morning

AND CAUSED J. R. WARNER LOSS

The Place Was Prettily Decorated With Cotton and Electric Lights, but an Accident Soon Reduced the Combination to a Scene of Desolation.

The beautiful show window that has for several days attracted the attention of hundreds of people as they passed the store of J. R. Warner, in the Diamond, was reduced to a blackened mass in a very few minutes today.

The story is soon told. The window had been decorated with cotton and incandescent lights. Soon after 8 o'clock this morning the clerks were startled by a bright light, and looking for its cause found the window a sheet of flame. An alarm brought the fire department, and in a short time the flames had been extinguished. The property, however, was lost. The big plate glass window was broken, and the mirror in the rear had ceased to be of any use. The stock displayed was ruined, and the loss will reach $200. It is covered by insurance.

It is probable that the insurance companies represented in this city will protest against the practice of putting cotton, ribbons and other inflammable materials close to electric lights. They know it presents a beautiful effect, but it is also very dangerous.

CAME HOME TO DIE

After an Absence of More Than Forty-Eight Years.

Pulaski Ferguson and Silas Ferguson have been notified of the death of their uncle, James Scott, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. Schaffer, in Coshoc-ton, last Sunday.

More than 48 years ago Mr. Scott left his home in Ohio for the gold fields of California, and he did not return until a few weeks ago. The journey was too much of a strain for his failing health and was the cause of his death. While in California Mr. Scott accumulated a large fortune, and it is invested in some of the finest ranches in that state. Mrs. S. Dennis of Trenton, is a niece and I. M. Young, of Penrith, W. Va., is his nephew.

HOLIDAY BUSINESS

Is the Largest Ever Known in the City.

Retail business in the city continues to be very good, and the banks as a result are also busy.

The business of last Friday, Saturday and yesterday was perhaps the greatest ever done in the city in the same length of time. Thousands of dollars passed over the counters of the stores, and, while the rush is looked upon as ended, a great deal of business was done today.

On the River.

The Ohio is about stationary, and the marks as registered at the wharf at noon today showed 6.4 feet.

Returning tow boats are getting back to port with large tows and are having no little trouble with the ice in the stream. The ice is known as slush ice and is from the Allegheny. When another rise comes a large amount of coal will be sent out as the river at present is too low to allow coal to be sent south.

Passed up: Pacific No. 2, William G. Horner, Tornado, B. D. Wood, Belle McGowan, Queen City and Samuel Clark.

Passed down: Keystone State, Kanawha and Ben Hur.

A report from Steubenville says: "Some tow boat down during the night struck a pier of the Panhandle bridge, sinking several boats of coal. One boat floated down and beached opposite this city and another is fast on the rifle below the city."

Excursion Rates.

Following the annual custom, ticket agents of the Pennsylvania lines will sell excursion tickets Dec. 24, 25 and 31, 1897, and Jan. 1, 1898, for the Christmas and New Year holidays. Tickets will not be sold to adults for less than 25 cents, nor to children for less than 15 cents. Return limit of excursion tickets will include Jan. 4, 1898. For rates, time of trains and further information please apply to nearest ticket agent of the Pennsylvania lines.

Work on Jethro Road.

Commissioner Finley is hard at work doing what he can to make Jethro road passable. A large amount of cinders has been dumped into the holes and ruts.

The work will be continued until the improvement is as complete as the street department can make it.

ONE MONTH'S REPORT

Professor Rayman Has Closed His Books.

40 DEATHS WERE REPORTED

Among the School Children of the City. Central Building, as Usual, Leads in the Number of Pupils—More Visits by the Board.

Superintendent Rayman's statistical report of the public schools for the month beginning Nov. 29 and ending Dec. 24 is as follows:

New enrollments, males 18; females 16, total 34; entire enrollment of all buildings, males 1,219, females 1,264; monthly enrollment, males 1,126, females 1,135; re-enrollments, No. 1, males 2, females 7; re-enrollments, No. 2, males 2, females 7; Average daily attendance, males 968, females 1,065; per cent attendance, males 92, females 89; promoted, none; demoted, none. Last month there were shown 4 scholars promoted, 8 demoted. Number of pupils absent, males 748, females 785; pupils withdrawn, males 41, females 49, an increase of 11 since the last report; cases of tardiness, males 399, females 305, an increase of 210 cases over last month. Cases of truancy, males 11, females 2, an increase of three over the last report; corporal punishment 50, a decrease of seven cases; teachers absent, 21½ days; number of visits by patrons, males 13, females 30; visits by members of board of education 22. Last month seven visits were made; cases of sickness, males 171, females 302. A decrease of 184 cases over the last report; visits by superintendent, 89; deaths, none. Last month there was one death.

The above report will be presented to the board of education at the next meeting, and as the totals for the preceding month are given the board can readily see the standing of the various schools for two months and, if desired, comparisons can be made. As usual the Central building leads in the number of pupils enrolled, there being 375 males and 406 females now registered.

THE COLLEGE BOYS

Delighted a Large Audience at the Grand Opera House.

The Washington and Jefferson college clubs sang and played their best at the Grand last night, and the result was a well pleased audience.

The glee club sang well, and the solos of Mr. McDowell and Mr. Miller were heartily received. Mr. Abt, the mandolinist, was, as he always is, very good, and the mandolin and guitar clubs were greeted at the end of each performance with that applause which clearly called for a repetition.

The entertainment throughout was of the character calculated to bring out the best of feeling from the splendid audience.

After the concert Miss Alice Goodwin entertained the club at her home in Broadway. A large number of guests were present.

AN IMPORTANT MEETING.

Council Has Business of Moment to Consider.

Council will meet this evening in regular session.

A petition will be received from the Cleveland and Pittsburg company asking permission to build a switch across Union street, and the new ordinances creating the office of chief of police and placing the mayor on salary will be discussed. There is also much miscellaneous business to be transacted.

Gone to a New Home.

Frank Iden and Miss Emma Copestick were married last evening at the residence of the bride's parents in Forest street in the presence of a few intimate friends and relatives. The happy couple left on the evening train for New Brighton where they will make their future home.

Better For the Bad.

Arrangements are now being made to better the sanitary condition of the city jail, and a number of plumbers today filed bids with the city clerk for the work.

Some Were Dismissed.

Isaac Walters has obtained judgment against Patrick Grafton for $6.

The cases brought against H. and Henry Harsha by the same party were dismissed as the bills had been paid.

Special Meetings.

Special meetings will commence tomorrow evening at the Second M. E. church. The pastor, Rev. S. B. Salmon, will conduct the services.

HIS HORROR OF DOGS.

Alphonse Daudet's Terrible Fear of Mad Canines and Its Results.

"My most vivid recollection of youth," said the late Alphonse Daudet, "is the terrible fear that I had of the mad dog. I was brought up at nurse in a village called Fons, which must have been called so because there was no fountain and indeed no water within eight miles. It was the most arid of places, and doubtless this was to some extent the reason why there were so many mad dogs in the district.

"Now, I will tell you of the mad dogs that haunted my earliest days. My foster father was an innkeeper. His name was Garrimon, which is Provencal for 'mountain rat.' Well, Garrimon's tavern was the rendezvous of the village. The cafe was on the first floor, and I can remember how at nightfall the black bearded, dark eyed men of the village, armed to the teeth, one with a sword, another with a gun, and most with scythes, used to come in from all parts of the district, talking of nothing but the 'chin fou' (mad dog) that was scouring the land, and against whom they had armed themselves.

"But what brought my horror to a climax and left an ineffaceable impression on me was that one day I nearly met the mad dog. It was a summer evening, I remember, and I was walking home, carrying a little basket, along a path white with dust, through thick vines.

"Suddenly I heard wild cries: 'Aou chin fou! Aou chin fou!' Then came a discharge of guns. Mad with terror, I jumped into the vines, rolling head over ears, and as I lay there, unable to stir a finger, I heard the dog go by as if a hurricane were passing, heard his fierce breath and the thunder of the stones that in his mad course he rolled before him, and my heart stopped beating, in a paroxysm of terror, which is the strongest emotion that I have ever felt in all my life.

"Since then I have had an absolute horror of dogs, and by extension indeed of all animals. People have reproached me for this and say that a poet cannot fear this and say that a poet cannot dislike animals. I can't help it. I hate them all. And, curiously enough, all my children have inherited this same horror of dogs."—Philadelphia Press.

GENUINE OHIO COFFEE.

From Thirty Plants Enough Was Secured to Last Nearly a Year.

A number of families will this winter use coffee which they have raised from the seed. The experiment of raising coffee was begun in Chillicothe, O., some years ago and has now reached that point where it is no longer an experiment. This season's crop has recently been gathered and is pronounced satisfactory in every way.

Among those who have raised crops of the fragrant berry are Miss Emma Reis, Mr. Gibery Reider, Sr., Mrs. Anna Kontzen and Mrs. Caroline Reider. Seed has been distributed among a large number of persons, and in almost every case the crop has been satisfactory, both in size and quality.

From 30 plants Mrs. Reider has secured enough coffee to last her nearly a year, and the other crops were in proportion. The grains are brown and hard and when roasted and ground make an excellent coffee. In fact the families who used the coffee last year state that after they had used up their supply they were at a loss to find any on the market that was as good.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Carried a Pocket Piece Since Boyhood.

Mr. H. A. Sylvester of Rockport, Me., offers to match pennies—not for gambling purposes, though—with any man in Maine. His treasure is the first cent ever given him, and it has reposed in his pocket for years. He withstood all the candy temptations of his childhood and kept his pocket piece unspent. When he grew up, he went to sea for 14 years and never lost his cent. At one time he was wrecked and was taken from a waterlogged and dismantled vessel in so exhausted a condition that his rescuers had to remove his clothing, but he had strength enough to beg them to look out and not lose his cent. He carried it to California, where he was engaged in mining for four years, and on a trip through the wild country in Idaho and Montana. Naturally it is worn smooth, but he wouldn't exchange it for a gold eagle.—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

Why He Wanted Sand In His Coffin.

Information recently reached Stillman, Ind., of the death of a young man named Phillips in the employ of John H. Edenfield, 12 miles east of here. Phillips had been drunk for several days, and a few days ago shot himself in the abdomen with a pistol. He lingered for two days. He requested his friends to place three things in his coffin with him, one of which was a handful of sand for him to throw in the devil's face when he met him, that he might dodge by. He died with this statement without making known the other two items.—Indianapolis Journal.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., TUESDAY, DEC. 28.

SPANISH diplomacy seems from this distance just plain foolishness.

A SIGN of the times can be found in the fact that charitable institutions in the large cities are not now as busy as is usual at this season.

MR. BRYAN is booked for an address in Pittsburg, and the question immediately arises "what has Pittsburg done to merit this last punishment?"

Ir Pierpont Morgan only succeeds in organizing a stove trust after his coal combination is in good working order, he will be a big man in this country.

WHEN John Bull is thoroughly aroused the situation in the Celestial Empire will likely resemble that china shop through which his namesake went tearing a few centuries ago.

In Marquette, Mich., the business men propose to boycott all office seekers who do not patronize local merchants. They evidently want to enforce the principle which has made this country great—protection to home enterprise.

THE crockery importers are brought face to face with the fact that they no longer control the situation. When their stocks are exhausted they will know that not only the American potter, but that particular gentleman engaged in the business in East Liverpool, is the master.

THE revival in business continues. While there is no room to deny that in some sections of the country there is still more poverty and idleness than the people can well endure, it must be remembered that the Dingley bill is only a few months old, and it has not yet had an opportunity to do everything.

THE QUESTION.

The selection of good men for office by the Republican party simply means that a large majority of East Liverpool's voters will support the Republican ticket at the spring election. The selection of men who cannot be relied upon can only result in a large number of Republicans supporting the nominee of a party that can appreciate the trend of public sentiment and is not afraid to nominate the right kind of men. Do you want to see East Liverpool governed by Republicans, or do you want it to pass into the hands of Democrats? It is for you as a voter to say.

THOSE ORDINANCES.

The announcement that a number of councilmen have discussed the bills providing for the appointment of a chief of police and a salary for the mayor, and failed to reach a satisfactory conclusion, should not be taken as an indication that the ordinances will not receive a majority vote when they are formally presented to council.

There is a strong sentiment in favor of the movement. East Liverpool has grown tired of the old system. It does well enough for a village, but does not meet the requirements of a city such as this has grown to be. Councilmen really desirous of doing as their constituents desire can do no better than support the measure at the earliest possible moment.

AN IMPORTANT MATTER.

There is no question but what the friends and enemies of civil service will contest with some bitterness the points at issue when the matter comes formally before congress next month. General Grosvenor is not the man to abandon his position without a struggle, and his opponents seem equally determined. The outcome will be awaited with interest by the Democrats, because any serious change means the dropping of many members of the party from the official roll and the subsequent loss of considerable power; by the Republicans because it means good places for many earnest workers in the party who are as competent as the men who now fill them; by the nation because it does not believe the spirit of the government is in sympathy with the system as it was used by Grover Cleveland. Perhaps there will be surprises in store for every body before the question is settled.

VERY QUEER NAME.

Maine Boy Christened "A Godsend Lufkin" by Mistake of a Clergyman.

A Godsend Lufkin of this village has the distinction of owning the queerest name in Maine. He got it through a mistake of the clergyman who christened him.

Godsend's grandfather, old Peleg Lufkin, owned about all the wild land in the town. When he died, he left his property to his four boys in trust, the whole of it to go to the first grandson who should come into the world. At that time none of the boys was married, but they at once remedied this fault, every one taking a wife inside of a year from the time the will of their father was made. Six years after his wedding the wife of George Lufkin presented to him a son, who was entitled to the great estate under the terms of the will. It was agreed that the boy's mother should bestow the name, but she neglected to tell the minister about it before the party had assembled in the church. Then when the clergyman asked what name he should bestow the child's father spoke up and said:

"I think you'd better call him a godsend, because he has proved that to my family."

The words spoken in jest were taken in earnest by the clergyman, who proceeded to formally christen the boy as "A Godsend Lufkin," a name which he bears today. As he got nearly $100,000 worth of property along with his name he is trying to stand it.—New York Sun.

WINTERGILL IS COMING.

He Expects to Be Here in a Short Time.

Ralph Wintergill has written to his relative, Mrs. Thomas Bettridge, stating that he would leave Columbus this morning and go direct to Pittsburg. From there he will go to Beaver Falls to visit his brother, who is very ill. He expects to be here within the next two weeks.

The report that he refused to leave Columbus is without foundation.

Two Deaths.

Charles Heckathorn, aged 19, died at the home of his mother, Mrs. Heckathorn, in East End, last night, from consumption. The funeral will take place from the Second M. E. church tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in Riverview.

James, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Brozka, died at their home in Cook street, this morning. The funeral will take place Thursday, the seventh anniversary of the little one's birth.

Sporting Notes.

The Rovers are endeavoring to arrange a game with the All Pittsburg team to be played Saturday afternoon at West End park.

The Twin Cities will hold a business meeting the early part of next week.

Dave Hall, the colored cyclone of Rochester, who is well known in the city, is trying to arrange a match with Herman Beck.

A number of the local ball players will endeavor to secure positions in the Ohio league.

THE BONUS IN SIGHT

Money For the Pottery Is Being Rapidly Raised.

FEW THOUSANDS ARE NEEDED

To Complete the Amount by the Liverpool People Who Are Behind the Plan—Success Is Promised—All the Good News of Wellsville.

It really seems as though Wellsville is to have another pottery. The board of trade has the plan well laid and almost enough money to make up the bonus has been subscribed.

The board has been working on the scheme for a long time, but the task to raise the $15,000 asked by the promoters was only started the other day. Since then the solicitors have been very successful. Last night the paper contained pledges amounting to almost $12,000, leaving a sum so small that its collection is almost assured.

The people who will build the pottery are Liverpool men, some of them having had long experience in potting. It is believed they will not only build a first class plant, but they will be able to operate it successfully.

One leading member of the board of trade believes this is the first of a movement that will add greatly to the importance of Wellsville as a manufacturing town.

Personal.

James Patterson and wife left for Burgettstown this morning.

William Davidson and family, who have been visiting relatives here, left for Cleveland this morning.

A VERY WARM MEETING

Was Held at the Christian Church Last Night.

THE ACTION WILL NOT STAND

Says a Member of the Congregation Who Is a Warm Friend of Professor Reed. He Does Not Take Stock in Talk of Arbitration.

An unusually interesting meeting of the official board of the Christian church was held last night.

It was called for the purpose of nominating officers for the next year, but some other matters appeared before the meeting came to an end. A ticket was named, but it is probable that another list of candidates will be presented on election day.

The differences in the church were brought out and discussed at length. Reverend Moffatt, secretary of the State Missionary association, who, it is understood, was brought here for the purpose of having some part in the controversy, was present and heard the questions as they were brought out. At length it was decided that Prof. O. S. Reed, John Scott, Oliver Vodrey and William Steel should select a committee of entirely disinterested parties who are to consider the questions. The committee will also prepare the statements for this board of arbitration, as it is called. It is given out that one matter to be decided is whether the deposing of the three elders recently is in accordance with rules of the church.

Parties who are acquainted with the details of the meeting would not talk much this morning, but a member of the church, who is also a warm personal friend of Reverend Reed, said:

"The action of last night was irregular and illegal. You ask me why? Well, because one of the deposed elders, deposed by the members of the congregation at a former meeting, and who now occupies the berth of trustee, presided as chairman of last night's meeting. He refused to recognize the elders lately elected by the people, by an overwhelming majority, and recognized the elders whom the congregation, by an overwhelming majority, had deposed. Had the elders lately elected by the congregation been recognized and permitted to vote, the vote of last night would have been eleven to eight in the pastor's favor; had the three elders lately deposed not been allowed to vote, the vote would have stood eleven to five in the pastor's favor. The meeting of last night was a determined effort to defeat the will of our members; but it will not avail. The rules of our church make the nomination by the official board a necessity; but the congregation have the further right, in open session, to also nominate, and last night's attempt to defeat the will of the majority will prove a signal failure, as should be the case. There will be no appeal to arbitration, or to a board of ministers, as each congregation in the Christian church is a power unto itself, the majority ruling. It is my belief, and I believe it to be the will of a very large majority of the members of our church, that we should depose from office and power any individual or individuals who will not bow to the action of the majority, but who, on the contrary, show by their actions, which speak louder than words, that their plan is to rule or ruin, and I firmly believe that they will neither rule or ruin, as our cause is builded on the solid rock of justice and right."

"Reverend Moffatt was asked last night if he approved of three elders setting themselves up against the remainder of the church, and he asked a few minutes to think over the question before he replied. When he did answer he said emphatically that he believed that course to be most unwise. The gentleman gives Reverend Reed a most flattering recommendation."

TRADES COUNCIL

Is Asked to Take Part in the Anti-Scalping Controversy.

A letter has been received in this city from F. C. Donald, commissioner of the Central Traffic association, asking that Trades Council adopt resolutions favoring the anti-scalping bill, now in the hands of the inter-state commerce committee of the senate and house.

A copy of the resolution is attached, and asks for the prompt passage of the bill as it is in the interest of the public morals. It also makes a personal appeal to the senators and representatives who represent the council.

A letter was also received from a Chicago union asking that the council adopt the resolution.

The matter will be presented to Trades Council at their next meeting, but it is not probable the desired resolutions will be adopted.

BREAKING THE RECORD.

Judge Boone Is Doing Nothing but Issue Marriage Licenses.

LISBON, Dec. 28.—[Special]—To the present time 70 marriage licenses have been issued by Judge Boone, breaking the record for the number of days of December already passed.

The following were issued today:

Francis M. Stull and Lizzie Mangus, Moultrie; Jessie C. Anglemeyer and Charlotte Schroy, Salem; Allen Miller and Laura Brooks, Salem; William Graupner and Bertha Vanfossen, Lisbon; Robert Patrick and Margaret Hilton.

Sent to the Infirmary.

The township trustees this morning presented Paddy O'Rourke with a certificate of admission to the county infirmary.

O'Rourke requested that he be sent to the infirmary, but the trustees refused him transportation, and this morning he started to walk.

BOB DONALDSON WAS RELEASED

Some of His Friends Found Him the Necessary Money and He Will Not Go to the Works—Christmas Culprits Are Paying Their Bills.

Several new faces were seen in jail this morning and some of the guests who arrived; Saturday paid their bills and left.

The first arrival last evening was a man who gave the name of Mr. Hill. He came at the request of Officers Morley and Terrence and the patrol. He was charged with being drunk, and when heard today was given $6.60.

Mr. Thomas Pierce, West End, was the next name on the register. Mr. Pierce is not a stranger and was invited by Officer Jennings and the patrol. He was drunk, and his bill amounted to $6.60.

Robert Donaldson, who was to be taken to the works this morning, was released last night. His friends interceded, and he was fined $5 and costs.

Jim Conners was taken to the infirmary this morning by the township trustees. He has several broken ribs.

The case of Mrs. Fred Humes, who charges her husband with assault and battery, is slated for 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The trouble occurred Christmas evening. Several witnesses have been summoned, but it is probable the case will be settled out of court.

A number of the people who were arrested Saturday were released yesterday, they having paid or arranged to pay their fines. There are at present four old lodgers and three new people in custody.

WILL ENLARGE.

The Surprise Clothing Store Finds This a Necessity.

A visit to the clever proprietor, M. Feldman, brought out the following this morning:

"Yes, I have had a very successful business ever since my advent in East Liverpool, and my Christmas trade was a pleasing surprise, so much so that I have found that it is an absolute necessity to enlarge my storeroom, which shall be done in the very near future. My chief aim is to please and profit the people, by furnishing them good goods at reasonable prices, and my splendid trade while in this city convinces me that the public at large appreciates this fact. In the meantime, while arrangements are being completed for enlargement, greater bargains than ever will control, and the purchasers of clothing, furnishings, hats and caps will reap a harvest."

POTTERS UNITING.

It Will Soon Be One Great Working Union.

A special from Trenton says this of an interesting matter:

"Representatives of the Potters' National union, the National Kilnmen, Dippers' and Saggarmakers' association and the National Brotherhood of Operative potters, in session here today, agreed upon the amalgamation of the three associations, thus bringing all the operative potters into one national organization. The plan of amalgamation is yet to be decided upon."

President Hughes, of the Brotherhood, is attending the meeting.

RUN DOWN BY A WAGON.

Albert McMillen May Be Internally Injured.

Albert McMillen, the 8-year-old son of James McMillen, of 209 Lincoln avenue, was badly injured this morning by being run over by an oil wagon in charge of Reddy Mason.

The lad had been coasting down Lincoln avenue, and in some manner fell while going up the hill. The wagon passed over the boy's neck and body.

A physician was summoned, and after a careful examination it was found no bones were broken. The boy was suffering much pain at noon today, and it was thought he might have been injured internally.

Found the Money.

This morning a lady accompanied by her husband purchased a pair of rubbers in an uptown shoe store, and when she opened her pocketbook to pay for them, she found that she had lost her money.

The couple hastily left the store, and, going to a business house which they had just left, found the money lying on the counter.

Colorado's Women's Clubs.

The annual directory of the Colorado Federation of Women's Clubs, recently issued, shows that 32 of the towns and cities of the state have their women's clubs, where last year there were only 21. The membership in the aggregate this year is 4,039, where last year it was only 2,602. Denver leads with the largest number of clubs, having 24. Last year it had 15. Before the biennial meeting of the general federation in Denver next summer every village in the state promises to be represented in the state federation.—Denver Republican.

The total number of copies of newspapers printed throughout the world in one year is 12,000,000,000. To print these requires 781,340 tons of paper, or 1,562,480,000 pounds, while it would take the fastest single press 333 years to print a single year's edition, which would produce a stack of papers nearly 50 miles high.

JOE SMITH'S OLD HORSE

Caused the Arrest of Its Bibulous Owner

AFTER BEING LONG IN A STREET

It Finally Reached That Point Where Its Disgust Could No Longer Be Disguised, and It Wandered Down Town Where It Attracted a Crowd.

An old horse, poor and hungry, stood for several hours in Fourth street yesterday afternoon. When evening came it wandered to a point near the junction of Union and Second streets. That is why Joe Smith, colored, spent the night in city hall.

The horse is one that would attract attention anywhere. Its ribs are among its most prominent features, and it seems to have passed through all kinds of trials and tribulations since it last had a good meal. Its harness, made in the main of wire and old ropes, had cut into the skin, and the whole presented a combination well calculated to excite pity. The crowd evidently thought so, for a number of children were feeding the poor animal hay when Smith came down the street with a shovel on his shoulder. He became angry when he saw his horse being fed, and ordered them to desist, adding force to his remarks by kicking the animal. A bystander objected, and someone called the patrol. Smith was arrested and taken to jail, and the horse was removed to a stable. Several persons were anxious to have the officers look after the horse, but they refused.

During the excitement a drunken tailor, who had become involved in a row with a number of colored men, appeared on the scene and demanded that the police arrest everybody in that part of town. He was ignored. Smith was fined $6.00 today.

Christmas at Fredericktown.

Christmas was observed at Fredericktown in a most enjoyable manner. The Methodist Episcopal Sunday school and a great many of its friends assembled at the church where a splendid program was carried out.

Hon. D. J. Smith presided, and made the address of the evening, and his friends declare that it was one of the best speeches in his long career as an orator. The music was a special feature of the evening. A handsome Christmas tree graced the church, and every person present was remembered.

Two Wildcats.

A Wells-Fargo messenger on the Santa Fe train had an unusual experience. Among the articles in his care was a cage containing two wildcats, consigned from Fall Brook, in this state, to Martin's Ferry, O. The messenger from whom he received them said they had been behaving very well, but no sooner was he started on his run than they got into a terrible fight. The frail bars of the cage bent so under their battering that he drew a couple of revolvers and watched them, ready to fight for his life in case they got loose. When the growls, snarls and spitting finally had ceased, the messenger took a lantern and looked into the cage. Where there had been two big wildcats, weighing respectively 50 and 40 pounds in spite of their gauntness, there was now one sleek 90 pound wildcat and a few hairs and bones of the other. The surviving beast was sent rejoicing on its way, billed as "two wildcats."—San Francisco Argonaut.

Golf Pointers.

In the absence of the regular golf editor the following question from a beginner was referred to the turf editor for an answer: "In a game of golf is it right to fuzzle your put or is it better to futter on the tee?" The turf editor set his teeth firmly, stared hard at the wall in front of him a few moments and wrote the following reply: "In case a player snuggles his iron it is permissible for him to fuzzle his put, but a better plan would be for him to drop his guppy into the pringle and smoodle it out with a niblick."—Chicago Tribune.

High Art on the High Seas.

"It was a rather expensive ocean trip that Splasher took."
"What happened?"
"A frightful storm came up and the captain threw Splasher's oil paintings overboard to calm the waves."—Chicago Record.

A cork leg without a knee joint does not cost as much as one including the knee, and if an artificial hip socket is to be made the cost is correspondingly increased.

In three years the progeny of a pair of rats, under favorable conditions, will number 1,000.

The Citizen's National bank, with headquarters on Fourth street, at the old postoffice, is now ready for business.

A GRAB BY RUSSIA.

Kin-Chau, Near Port Arthur, Taken by the Fleet of the Casr.

St. PETERSBURG, Dec. 28.—The Russians have occupied Kin-Chau, north of Port Arthur.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—Eli T. Sheppard, who has recently returned from China, where he held an official position, commenting upon the reported occupation of Kin-Chau by Russia, said:

"Kin-Chau is an important walled city (not an open port) at the head of the Gulf of Lan Tung, and it commands the mouth of the river Yaloo, where the great naval battle between the Japanese and Chinese was fought, and the other important rivers which flow into the gulf. It is about equidistant between the mouth of the Yaloo river and the terminus of the great wall of China. It commands the railway system recently constructed from the Tien Tsin to the capital of Manchuria, and is of pre-eminent importance as a strategic position.

"The seizure of the port shows that Russia has practically taken possession of Korea, Manchuria and the Gulf of Lan Tung, and possess a significance which will cause consternation among the diplomats of the old world. Its situation is such that its possession practically places Russia in a position to defy the world."

AGREED ON A PLAN.

Record Stock to Be Used to Arrange Singler's Affairs.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28.—The conferees selected to formulate a plan of settlement of the affairs of the Chestnut Street National bank and the Chestnut Street Trust and Savings Fund company, of which William M. Singler, proprietor of The Record, was president, and which closed their doors last Thursday, have presented their plan for the consideration of depositors and creditors.

The chief measure suggested is the issuance of record stock to secure the creditors.

Law, to Be No Strike.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Dec. 28.—The latest proposition of the operatives and the answer of the manufacturers have again left matters in this city in rather an uncertain condition, although by many the outcome anticipated is an acceptance by the operatives, at least for the present, of the reduction.

Aged Man Kills Brother-in-Law.

HAVERHILL, Mass., Dec. 28.—William Doolan has been stabbed to the heart with a knife and killed by William Daly, his brother-in-law, who had lived with him 10 years. Daly is in jail charged with murder. The men were about 70 years old. They quarreled while drunk.

Councilmen Discussed Important Bills.

WILL TALK THEM OVER AGAIN

Before Action Is Taken on the Ordinances Providing For a Chief of Police and a Salary For the Mayor—Talking Annexation.

Councilmen Peach, Marshall, Horwell, Chellis and Stewart met last evening at city hall, and discussed the ordinances creating the office of chief of police, placing the mayor on a salary, and annexing contiguous territory.

The committee could not arrive at a conclusion in regard to the ordinances dealing with the chief of police and mayor, and they will be discussed again before being presented to council.

The ordinance enlarging the corporate limits was acceptable to every member of the committee, and it is probable it will pass council in its original form, with the exception that the property of the Neville institute was left in the township.

HEAVY BUSINESS.

continues to Keep the Postal Force at Work.

Postmaster Miskall said to a reporter last evening, that on Friday last more stamps were sold in this city than there has been since he has been in office. From the time the window opened in the morning until it closed in the evening there were $313.75 worth of stamps sold. Most of these were two cent stamps, but the other denominations also had a good sale.

The reports of the other departments of the office are not yet complete. On Thursday last 80,000 postal cards were received, and at the rate they are being sold it will not be long before another supply will be ordered.

SCOOPING THE BOYS.

Frank Searight Is Making a Record in Buffalo.

Frank T. Searight, who was for several years on the local force of the News Review, and is known to a great many people in the city, is making a record for himself as police reporter of the Buffalo Enquirer. The other day he succeeded in scooping the other papers of the city on the three best news items of the week, and was loudly applauded at the office. He has gained for himself the distinction of being the best police court reporter in Buffalo, and his friends here are sure it will not be long until he is raised to a better position.

THE BOY DIDN'T COME BACK

And the Valise and Package Cannot Be Found.

The other day Harry Fielding, clerk at the Thompson House, was about to go to his home in Steubenville, but had occasion to go up town. In order that he might make no mistake he sent his valise and a valuable package to a Second street restaurant. He missed the train, and sent a boy for the articles. The boy did not return and search was instituted, but without good result. Neither boy nor valise can be found.

The matter has been reported to the police, but there is little prospect of the property being recovered.

Special Aid Free to Tourists

If you intend to get away from the rigors of winter, make your arrangements now. J. K. Dillon, district passenger agent of the Pennsylvania lines, 360 Fifth avenue, Pittsburg, will help you arrange for a trip to California or to Florida and the south. It will be a pleasant one if you consult him. He won't charge a cent for his services which will include selection of route, the procuring of through tickets, reservation of sleeping car accommodations, and arranging all details. Better drop him a letter today and find out the big help he can be to intending travelers. *

Get Out of the Cold.

You may quickly pass from a cold to a warm climate via Pennsylvania lines from East Liverpool, the direct tourist rate route through Chicago and St. Louis to California, and through Cincinnati or Louisville to Florida and the south. For details apply to J. K. Dillon, district passenger agent, 360 Fifth avenue, Pittsburg. *

A Week of Rest.

The freight depot is not this week the scene of active operations, and as Agent Thomas remarked this morning, the boys are taking a well earned rest.

A little ware is received each day for shipment, but the amount is not sufficient to cause any inconvenience. After the potteries resume operations the big time of last fall is expected.

A PRECARIOUS PUSH.

THE HONEYMOON AND A CHRISTMAS ADVENTURE.

BY F. A. OBER.

All our friends said we were foolish, and really I suppose we were—foolish in the first place to fall in love; foolish to get married, and, lastly, foolish to spend our honeymoon in the Yosemite.

Yes, they declared that to be the crowning act of all our foolish deeds, and they washed their hands and cleared their skirts of us entirely. But, bless them, we didn't care. Alicia and I had fallen in love with each other just because we couldn't help it, and we didn't want to either—that is, we didn't want to "help it." And we cared not a straw what our friends thought or did so long as they let us entirely alone.

And at the end of the week, when the others started for the return trip, we proved the integrity of our intentions by remaining behind. It was then late in September, and soon, the guardian of the valley told us, the first snowflakes would fly and not long after the Yosemite would be closed entirely to the outside world.

"Yes, indeed," he said, "there won't be nobody in here except now and then a logging team and whoever's left over. So I'd advise you two to get out mighty soon."

"But we don't want to get out," I exclaimed, and my wife nodded her head affirmatively. "We want to stay here all winter, all alone."

"Yes, and don't you know of some nice little cabin we can hire?" asked Alicia. "Any kind of a hut will do, so long as it can be made warm and comfortable. We want to stay all by ourselves."

"Sho! You don't say! Yes, I do know of one. It's that log cabin over the river. But it'll be awful lonesome, let me tell you. There won't be nobody but me within a mile and p'rhaps half a dozen families scattered over the whole seven mile stretch of the valley."

"What! Do you mean that darling little log hut among the apple trees, with the tiny flower garden in front and the river flowing by?"

"That's the one. The man who built it has gone east; staid here one winter, and it was too lonely for him. If you really want it, I can put you in possession at once."

"If we want it!" I exclaimed, ready to hug the old man on the spot. And I was almost afraid Alicia would hug him then and there, but she didn't, only her eyes shone, and she clapped her hands for joy.

"Why, we don't want anything else in this wide, wide world!" she exclaimed. "It will be perfect, just too heavenly for anything!"

"Well, guess you'll want a little something else," rejoined the dear old man, "some provisions, for instance, fuel, and the like."

At this sudden descent to sublimity and substantial things our countenances fell. We hadn't thought but that we could live on air perhaps or on ambrosial nectar. We looked at each other doubtfully.

The old man noted our disappointment and hastened to add: "Well, now, don't feel bad about it. I'll arrange for all that. Fact is, the cabin's supplied with pretty much everything except fresh meat—flour, meal, bedding, blankets, cooking things—and if you haven't got the money with you we'll trust you till spring opens for all you want."

"Oh, we've got money enough," I remarked. "I'll pay you any price you ask and feel forever indebted to you into the bargain." And I wrung the old man's hand so warmly that he turned aside with a suspicious moisture in his eyes and remarked under his breath and with a sigh: "Dear me! I was young myself once. It's nice to be young."

The hotel closed the very next day, but none too soon for us, as we were wild to get installed in our new quarters. The old guardian showed us where the provisions were stored, instructed us how to make a fire in the great fireplace and how to cook over the open hearth with the primitive utensils of our ancestors. There were two rooms in the hut, each about 14 feet square, one being for a bedroom and the other for kitchen, dining room and parlor. The great oak logs were well chinked with clay, the stout floor timbers neatly covered with pine boards, and a little square window in each room looked out over the broad and winding river. The frost had not yet touched the flowers in the garden, and soon the best of them were potted and indoors, where, with the ferns and the few pictures we had brought with us, they bore witness how a woman's dainty touch can evoke from bare walls a suggestion of home.

Finally winter closed in earnest. All the trails were filled with snow, the waterfalls converted into sheets of crystal and mounds of silver, the gaunt cliffs and great trees hung with heavy draperies. Then we staid within doors almost entirely, except that I sallied out every day to cut wood for the insatiable fireplace until a pile was heaped against the cabin almost as big as the hut itself. The time passed as big as the hut itself. The time passed as big as the hut itself. The time passed as big as the hut itself.

and with a larger sorely depleted. Alicia and I were out in the snow gathering holly and mistletoe for the decorating of the cabin when our friend, the old guardian, came along, a rifle in his hands, and a cur dog at his heels. "Bet a dollar you folks haven't a pound of 'Bet a dollar you folks haven't a pound of fresh meat in the house," was his first remark after greetings were over, "and I've marked to see if Mr. Alfred won't go with me on a little hunt."

"Yes, dear, do go," said my brave little wife, but her eyes were tear gathering. I noticed, as she took down the rifle from above the fireplace and placed it in my hands. "I'm not afraid to stay alone during the daytime, and then, you know, I've that pudding to make, which will keep me busy while you're gone."

So I kissed her and left her, and yet my heart misgave me as I turned around an hour later while climbing the trail up the cliffs and saw her still standing in the doorway, watching us wistfully. It is a stiff climb up to Glacier point, and by the time we had arrived at the forest covered plateau the exercise in the cool crisp air had started my blood coursing rapidly, and I was in fine spirits. My friend directed me to take the trail to the left, while he swung around to the right, promising to join me within three hours' time.

"Shoot whatever you see," was his final word at parting. "It won't be much anyhow, but remember we're out for meat!"

That was unfortunate advice, for not more than an hour later, coming suddenly upon a strange track in the forest and shortly after looking ahead and seeing a queer but immense gray creature shambling through the snow and being at a loss what to call it, I thought a well directed bullet might disclose its identity and so threw up my rifle and let drive.

My friends would have felt perfectly justified in calling me a fool could they have seen me make that foolish shot and have seen the big gray monster turn around and disclose to my astonished gaze the unmistakable head and hideous fangs of a grizzly bear! I had never seen one before, except in a cage, but there was no doubt whatever about this one. And he left me not long in doubt as to his intentions either when he wheeled about with a snarl and a growl and took the trail in my direction.

The blood was oozing from a wound in his flank, but that was nothing more than a flea bite to his bearship, though good excuse enough for revenge. I looked about me and saw to my horror that I was between him and the edge of the cliff, which at this point descends sheer 3,000 feet. Projecting over the edge of the precipice was an immense rock like the bowsprit of a ship and some 15 or 20 feet in length.

It may look like an insane move that I made tracks for this perilous position, 3,000 feet above the valley floor, but there seemed nothing else to do unless I went straight toward the bear. I remember that I felt then that my time had come and wondered confusedly what Alicia would say and do when, perhaps days or weeks later, she should view my mangled remains at the foot of the great cliff. However, I ran for all I was worth, and, as I ran on, mechanically ejected the empty shell from my rifle and slipped in another cartridge. It was a six shooter, and I resolved if only for Alicia's sake not to die until I had given grizzly the full benefit of every shot. He was shuffling along clumsily, but relentlessly, and was close upon me as I slipped over the bank. If I had carried out my hastily conceived plan of going out on the protruding rock, I should not have lived to tell this story, but just as I reached its base I slid down into a crevice behind and a little to one side of it.

That unintentional move saved my life, for, seeing me go over, my pursuer rushed fiercely after and could not restrain his impetus until well out on the rock. It was extremely slippery, incased as it was in ice, with a sheet of snow atop, and he had hard work to keep his footing, and as he stood there, growling terribly and shifting his position uneasily, yet looking down and all around for me, a germ of hope came into my mind. I saw that it would not take much to send him crashing down upon the rocks at the foot of the cliff, and I trembled lest he should get off the rock before I had given him a little jolt. I could see him quite clearly, as he wasn't more than 20 feet away, and that instant also he saw me, wedged into the crevice back of him.

He tried to scramble about and reverse his position, but as he turned I drew a bead just behind his shoulder and sped a bullet there. His situation was precarious enough at the first, but now in his frantic struggles to turn about—and perhaps made giddy by the two wounds—he swayed considerably. Into the ice sheet and the snow he sent his crooked claws, making desperate efforts to regain his balance, but another ball crashed into his ear and that settled him. Over he went, clawing and fighting the empty air, whirling down, down, through space, until he was dashed with a terrible shock upon the rocks 3,000 feet below.

I dared not look over for fear I might

share his fate, but after a prayer of thankfulness at my escape I slowly crawled to the brow of the precipice. The old man met me soon after and had to support me over a portion of the downward trail, I was so unnerved.

After a detour of several miles we finally reached the base of the cliff over which grizzly had fallen, and there we found him, a very much used up bear. His skin, however, was not so badly torn but it later served as a rug for our cabin floor, though it was long before Alicia could look upon it with composure.

The bear meat, the old guardian said, was tender and toothsome—probably from the pounding it got—but Alicia and I could not bring ourselves to taste it. In fact, though our hearts sang with joy and we were thankful for our blessings, with the true Christmas spirit, yet we could not do justice to that Christmas dinner. Even the pudding, which the old man declared a conspicuous success, was neglected, for my little wife did nothing but shudder, and, throwing her arms around my neck, whisper, with her lips close to my ear, "Dearest, I shall never let you out of my sight again!"

Scratches in Horses.

In rainy weather, when there is plenty of mud, unless care is taken to clean it off and wipe the feet dry the horses are liable to be attacked with scratches or grease heel. If the legs get muddy and the animal gets heated and then is put into a cold stable without cleaning off to get cold and shiver, conditions are supplied that are favorable for the development of this disease. Allowing the horses to get fat and to stand in the stables with no exercise and upon a pile of heating is also favorable to this disease. Prevention is much easier than cure. A proper regard for comfort and cleanliness will readily prevent this disease.

When the horses come in at night, if the legs are wet or muddy they should be carefully washed off in tepid water and then wiped dry with a cloth. If the scratches appear, as soon as the fact is ascertained wash the feet with tepid water and castile soap and then wipe dry. If there is inflammation, make a hot poultice and sprinkle finely powdered charcoal over it, applying one in the morning and renewing it at night until the inflammation subsides. Then apply a lotion made of one ounce of sugar of lead dissolved in a pint of water. When it begins to heal, use veterinary vaseline. Continue the treatment until thoroughly cured. Keep the horse quiet and supply sufficient bedding to keep the feet clean. If taken in hand at the first stages, washing clean with warm water and castile soap, wiping dry and applying veterinary vaseline will effect a cure in three or four days. In severe cases in addition to the treatment given it may be necessary to give a good cathartic.—St. Louis Republic.

Her Great Need.

Every woman ought to pay a reasonable degree of attention to her person, and especially to having her hair neatly and becomingly dressed.

Two days after a great fire had devastated a north country village a worthy philanthropist of the place was serving out clay pipes and tobacco as relief for the poor homeless men when a young woman presented herself before him. The line, of course, had been made up of men, and the donor asked the girl, who was extremely pretty and refined in appearance, what she wanted with a pipe. She blushed and repeated her request.

"Why, you do not smoke!" said the worthy philanthropist.

"No, but please give me a pipe."

"If you will tell me what you are going to do with it, I'll give you one."

The girl hesitated, and then, raising her hand to the fringe of her hair that hung limp over her forehead, she said:

"I want to curl my fringe."

She got the stem of the broken pipe and went away laughing. She had been rescued from a burning house only 24 hours before and was then almost on the verge of starvation, and when she sought the pipe to curl her hair she was unquestionably badly in need of clothing.—Strand Magazine.

It Was Play For Him.

The train ran off the track and plunged down a steep embankment.

Engine, baggage car, coaches and sleepers were jumbled in one awful mass.

The groans of the injured passengers rent the air.

It was frightful.

Jones, the world renowned half back, partially awoke.

Three passenger cars were piled on top of him.

A piece of pipe was coiled around his neck.

The rim of one of the great driving wheels of the engine rested on his face.

His legs were pinned down by a heavy beam.

A pillow had been forced against his mouth and nose, making it impossible for him to breathe.

His arms were pressed against his sides, and he tried in vain to move.

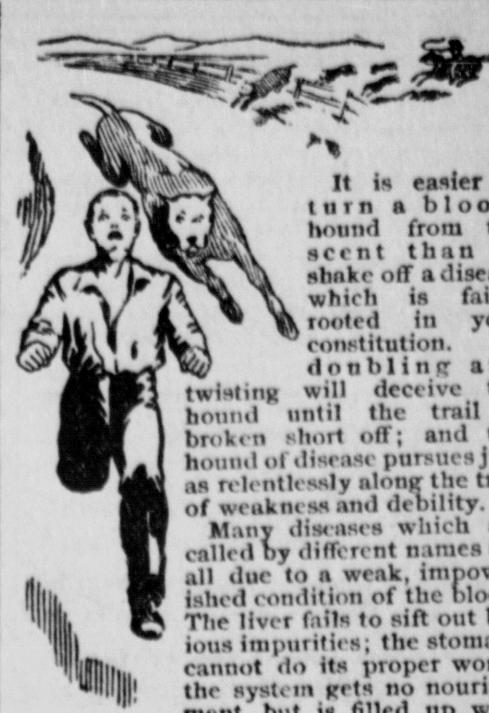

But willing hands were at work upon the wreck, and at last Jones, the world renowned half back, was dragged out.

Looking around, in a dazed sort of way, at his rescuers, he asked:

"How many yards did we gain on that 'down,' boys?"—Cleveland Leader.

Boston's Pie Social.

"Pie socials" seem to be coming into vogue in and around Boston, ladies who bring pies securing free admission.—Boston Globe.

It is easier to turn a bloodhound from the scent than to shake off a disease which is fairly rooted in your constitution. No doubling and twisting will deceive the bound until the trail is broken short off; and the bound of disease pursues just as relentlessly along the trail of weakness and debility.

Many diseases which are called by different names are all due to a weak, impoverished condition of the blood. The liver fails to sift out bilious impurities; the stomach cannot do its proper work; the system gets no nourishment, but is filled up with poison instead. The appetite and strength, and vital energies fail, and frequently the delicate lung tissues become affected. But there is no use in cough syrups and "appetizers" and mere stimulating "extracts." This trail of wasting debility must be broken short off by getting at its fundamental causes in the blood, and no medicine in the world does this so scientifically and thoroughly as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It directly reanimates the liver and digestive organs and gives them power to produce an abundant supply of pure, red, life-giving blood which stops the wasting process and creates fresh tissue, healthy flesh and permanent strength. It is the invention of an educated and widely experienced physician. Dr. Pierce has been for nearly thirty years chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N.Y. His roo-page illustrated book, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," will be sent free for the cost of mailing only: 21 one-cent stamps, or cloth-bound for 31 stamps. It is of priceless value in any home. One chapter gives a full account of some astonishing recoveries of apparently hopeless victims of lung and throat affections and other wasting diseases which seemed beyond the reach of medicine.

DOUBLE DEALING

Is the Cause of Many Heart Burnings—An East Liverpool Case That Was Opposite.

Double dealing, like so many other expressions in the Anglo-Saxon language, has different meanings. The text or heading does not refer to the deceitful, hypocritical specimens of manhood who curry favor for their own ends and keep a community in a ferment by retailing scraps of confidences. This time 'tis the double dealing of the little conqueror, Doan's Kidney Pills—to be more correct, the double healing. One member of a family tests them. Like disease, the infection spreads. Another tries them, an acquaintance or a friend, maybe. Result the same—a cure. Read the statement that follows, made by Mrs. Edmund Purton, of 233 Ravine Street. She says: "Both my husband and I can testify to the value of Doan's Kidney Pills. I had backache, headache and other symptoms of the complaint for two years. When the last attack came on I went to the W. & W. Pharmacy, and got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills. In a very short time I was relieved."

"My husband, who is a painter, decorator and paperhanger, of the firm of Purton & Jackson, was seized with a severe attack of kidney complaint lately. Some three years ago he contracted a fever, which left his kidneys in bad shape, and ever since he has had more or less trouble. When suffering last a gentleman advised him to try Doan's Kidney Pills, emphasizing the facts that he had been a sufferer with kidney disease; confined to his bed; his physician informed him that perhaps he would be able to get him up in two or three weeks; that he used Doan's Kidney Pills, and in a day or two he was able to be up and about his business. The gentleman spoke so highly about the remedy that my husband got a box at once. They were prompt in relieving him. I felt better generally. We can heartily recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. I hear numbers of people speak well of them."

Doan's Kidney Pills are sold by all dealers. Price 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50. By mail on receipt of price by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

The Considerate Woman.

It was at the busiest hour of the busiest day the store had seen in a long time, and the busiest place in all the store was the lace department. Four women, four frantically eager women, were waiting. The fifth woman had the only saleswoman at that end of the counter and was looking at lace, real lace. I think she must have examined a dozen pieces. The four women seemed on the verge of apoplexy.

"Haven't you something wider?" asked the fifth woman.

"Certainly," answered the tired saleswoman, dragging out another box.

"This is $15 a yard."

The eyes of the fifth woman glistened.

"Yes," she said to her companion, "that's like mine. I just wanted to know what he paid for it. That's all."

And she sailed out of the shop. Not one of the four women waiting found a word to say, but the saleswoman gasped weakly, "Well, I never!"—Washington Post.

A Letter That She Longed For.

Mr. Day, postal clerk on the Bar Harbor and Bangor route, had a letter pass through his hands the other day with a lyrical superscription somewhat as follows:

Over the hills and over the level
Carry this letter as quick as the devil.
Over rough mountain and desert plain,
To Miss Blankety Blank of West Levant, Me.

Mrs. J. N. Rose has not rallied for several days, and is in a very dangerous condition.

Frank Dickey yesterday sold a fine driving team to Mrs. F. M. Gusky, of Pittsburg.

The household effects of W. A. Tanner were received at the freight depot yesterday. They came from the east.

Work was commenced this morning connecting the sprinkler system at the Standard pottery to the high service mains.

Three cases of typhoid fever were reported to the health department today. There is not a case of scarlet fever or diphtheria in the city.

There will be an informal hop for the Elks and their ladies at their handsome new hall tonight, after the entertainment at the opera house is over.

With cold weather comes the old story that the West End park will be leased for a skating park. There is probably no truth in the report.

A small shipment of ware was sent to Allegheny on the first train this morning. It was the first shipment of the week, but only three baskets were sent up.

H. A. Silvey, of the Washington and Jefferson Mandolin club, was a roommate of Attorney W. H. Vodrey when they were students at the University of Michigan.

Her many friends in the city will be pleased to learn that Mrs. John Lloyd Lee is somewhat improved today, although the lady is still in a dangerous condition.

A part of the street force is today cutting the ice in Avondale street as it had become so slippery that it was almost impossible for a heavily laden team to climb the hill.

The Cleveland and Pittsburg road sent a carload of gravel to this city last evening. It will be used for filling in purposes about the Second street and Broadway crossings.

James Webber, who has for several years handled Christmas trees, says if the practice of cutting them is not confined within a reasonable limit they will be very scarce in this vicinity within a few years.

It is said that a movement of importance was recently made by which the affairs of the Canton and East Liverpool railroad were greatly improved. An announcement of interest is expected in the near future.

Friends in the city have been notified of the death of Mrs. Norman Jones last night at her home in Washington C. H. She was the mother of Miss Lucile Jones, a member of the corps of teachers of the Central building.

Dr. C. B. Ogden yesterday afternoon found the jaw bone of a woman lying in Pleasant street. He picked it up, and will keep it. The back teeth were good. It had probably been carried from the old cemetery by children.

Irwin Daniels appeared before the mayor this afternoon on a charge of assault and battery made by William Connell. Daniels pleaded not guilty, and will stand trial. He is employed at Harker's pottery.

An old resident who has been keeping tab on the weather for a great many years, says that we must not be deceived by the pleasant days of the past few weeks, for there will be cold and snow in plenty before the flowers bloom again.

H. McGill, the well known slipmaker at the Union, would like to have it known that he is not the H. McGill who was fined in police court yesterday. Mr. McGill does not know any other person by that name in the city, and cannot but think someone has been impersonating him. He is a good citizen, and was never arrested.

THIRTEENTH YEAR. NO. 171.

EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO, TUESDAY, DECEMBER, 28.

TWO CENTS

A WAGE CONFERENCE.

Miners and Operators to Meet In Chicago.

AGREED TO CONFER ON JAN. 17.

They Hope Then to Permanently Settle the Interstate Wage Question—A Preliminary Meeting Held in Columbus. A Joint Call Issued.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 28.—The executive committee of the United Mine Workers of America and coal operators from Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois have met here. West Virginia was not represented.

It was decided to hold a joint conference in Chicago, Jan. 17, following the national miners' convention in this city. While neither the operators nor the miners will say positively that an interstate agreement will be made at that time, they are all hopeful that the meeting will result in an amicable adjustment of the wage scale for the coming year. In the meantime, the present conditions will remain undisturbed. The miners will decide at their national convention upon the demands to be made at the joint conference. An advance of probably not less than 10 cents per ton in the price of mining will be asked.

The following call was issued:

To the operators and miners of Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois:

GENTLEMEN—At a meeting of operators' and miners' representatives, held at Columbus, on this 27th day of December, 1907, it was unanimously agreed that a joint meeting of miners and operators of this competitive coal field be held in the Y. M. C. A. building, at Chicago, at 10 o'clock a. m., on Monday, Jan. 17, for the purpose of establishing mutual relations and formulating an annual scale of prices to be paid for mining in the various fields in the states aforesaid for the ensuing year; and such adjustment of differentials, as may be agreed on, and if possible, the permanent establishment of interstate agreement on the mining question; and the consideration of such other matters as may properly come before such meeting.

On behalf of the operators,
F. L. Robbins, Pennsylvania.
H. N. Taylor, Illinois.
R. S. Tennant, Indiana.
J. S. Morton, Ohio.
Committee.

On behalf of miners,

MURDER MYSTERY UNSOLVED.

Investigation Throws Little Light on the Indiana County Tragedy.

INDIANA, Pa., Dec. 28.—The murder theory is still held by the friends of J. Milton Neal and wife, who were found dead from gunshot wounds at their home near Jacksonville Saturday night. The coroner's inquest is not concluded, it being adjourned until Thursday noon. No trace of the murderer has been found, so far as the public is informed. Frank Douglas of Indiana, son-in-law of the dead couple, scouts the idea that Mr. Neal killed his wife and himself. He points out that they were in the best of circumstances, deeply attached to each other and all their family relations pleasant.

Mr. Douglas would not state what motive could have induced the murder, but believes robbery was the main one. Members of the family think that on Friday before the murder Mr. Neal had $500 on his person. Now only half that sum can be found. Again, they say it was the habit of the murdered man to carry large sums in a big leather pocketbook. The latter was found in the usual place, but only a few papers were within. One thing which the relatives think upholds the idea of suicide is that after the bodies were found one shell was still in the gun. They say that both barrels were always loaded.

Across Mr. Neal's forehead there is a deep dent, wonderfully like a blow produced by a poker. No one can account for this, and some think the murderer first felled him before firing the fatal shot. The fender in front of the fireplace, instead of facing in the proper direction, was turned out toward the centre of the room, showing signs of a scuffle. The relatives believe that after Mr. and Mrs. Neal were murdered the murderers locked all the doors in the house and made their exit through the cellar. By the stove stood a bucket heaped full of coal, and that is taken as evidence that the husband and wife were preparing for the night and carried in the coal either late in the afternoon or early in the evening.

PROTEST AGAINST A BISHOP.

Arkansians Declare Brown of Ohio Was Elected by Fraud.

LITTLE ROCK, Dec. 28.—Colonel W. H. Whipple, chancellor of the Episcopal diocese of Arkansas, has notified the chairmen of the 58 standing committees throughout the United States that a protest against the consecrating of that body to the consecration of Archbishop William Montgomery Brown of Ohio, recently elected bishop of the diocese of Arkansas, is being prepared and will be submitted in a short time.

The protest will allege that one of the delegates who voted in the council for Brown was seated on bogus credentials and that fraud was practiced in the election. Brown was elected by a majority of one vote in the council. The fight threatens to cause a split in the diocese.

WM. H. GRIFFITH ARRESTED.
The Former Pennsylvania Arrested at Denver.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—According to a dispatch received at police headquarters, William H. Griffiths has been arrested in Denver by a detective sergeant from this city. Griffiths is charged with having swindled Richard J. Bowles, president of the Denver mining exchange, out of $14,016 on Nov. 26, 1902, in this city.

DENVER, Dec. 28.—William H. Griffiths, whose arrest on an indictment found in New York for the alleged larceny of $14,000 has occurred here, is proprietor of the Leadville Herald-Democrat and the Leadville Evening Chronicle. He claims that the indictment is simply an attempt to collect a civil debt by criminal process. He says there was nothing crooked in the transaction between him and Bowles, and that he has been in New York repeatedly since 1902, and could have been arrested there had Bowles really wanted to prosecute him criminally.

Mr. Griffiths has been very prominent in Colorado politics, being at one time chairman of the Republican state committee. He is manager of one of the richest mines in Leadville. Mr. Griffiths was once owner of the Denver Sun. He was formerly from Mercer, Pa.

REFUSAL BY ENGLAND.

Will Not Enter into an Agreement to Stop Sealing.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—Lord Salisbury, the premier, has written to United States Ambassador Hay in response to America's latest proposals in the Lering sea controversy, her request that Great Britain would enter into an agreement with the United States, Russia and Japan to stop sealing.

Great Britain declines to enter into such an agreement. Lord Salisbury says in substance that he has communicated with the Canadian government, which has the foremost interest in the sealing question, and that Canada is unwilling to become a party to such an arrangement as is proposed by the United States. Therefore, England, continues Lord Salisbury, whose interest is but slight, would not be justified in acceding to the proposals.

LINGO GOT TWENTY YEARS.

The New Jersey Wouldbe Murderer Receives Merited Punishment.

CAMDEN, N. J., Dec. 28.—Francis Lingo, colored, has been sentenced to 20 years, five years on each of two charges of forgery and ten years on the charge of attempted abduction. A fine of $5,000 was also imposed, making the full penalty of the law for the three crimes.

Lingo, who has figured prominently in two murder mysteries, was arrested charged with enticing Miss Katherine Berry, white, of Philadelphia to New Jersey by means of a forged note and a forged order on the Merchantville post-office. It is believed he intended to murder her.

The Camden county grand jury found a true bill against Eli Shaw, who was charged with the murder of his mother and grandmother.

FROZEN AND UNCONSCIOUS.

Four Men in a Boat Washed Up on Rockaway Beach.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—A rowboat containing four men frozen and unconscious was washed up on Rockaway Beach. The men's feet were frozen fast to the bottom of the boat. They were carried to a hotel, put to bed and restoratives administered. After four hours' care they recovered so far as to explain that they had hired a rowboat from a fisherman, and had lost the oars, and had been at the mercy of the wind and waves all night. It is probable that they all will recover. Their names are:

Joseph Day.
B. B. Black.
James R. om.
George Metzger of New York city.

MAY NOT NAME PAXSON.

Illinois Senators Think There Is a Chance For Thir Man.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Senators Culom and Mason of Illinois called upon the president again to urge the appointment of State Senator David T. Littler of Illinois as the successor of Colonel Morison on the interstate commerce commission.

While it is known that the president has had Judge Paxson of Pennsylvania particularly in mind for that place, the Illinois senators believe that the president has not yet definitely decided to appoint Judge Paxson.

New Union Pacific President.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Official announcement has been made of the appointment of Horace G. Burt, third vice president of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway company, as president of the Union Pacific Railway company.

THE FIGHT ON HANNA.

Struggle Warm, Though Voting Is Two Weeks Off.

HANNA MEN CLAIM CONFIDENCE.

Say Opposition Is Losing—Some of Hanna's Foes Said to Be Afraid to Oppose Him—Kurtz Rumored to Have Refused to Compromise.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 28.—The sensational fight is getting very warm, although the balloting is two weeks away.

The anti-Hanna people declare that Hanna is trying to arrange a conference with Kurtz to make peace.

The Hanna men say that the anti-Hanna forces are falling to pieces. They declare it is the drift of opinion that Senator Hanna will not only be re-elected, but that he will win without the aid of a single member of the Hamilton county delegation. There are three members of the Cleveland delegation who would vote against Senator Hanna if they could secure enough additions to their strength to compass his defeat, but it is not in evidence, and they will vote for him.

The air is full of rumors, and all sorts of talk is being indulged in regarding the plans of the opposition to Senator Hanna, but the most of it comes from people who have no vote in the matter. There is considerable unfriendliness to the senator, and but for the action of the Toledo convention in endorsing him there is no doubt that he would be defeated, but the bitter enemy of Mr. Hanna hesitates to take a step that would politically and socially ostracize him forever in Ohio.

Hon. Charles F. Dick, the political manager of Senator Hanna, arrived today and opened headquarters. He will occupy a suite of rooms at the Neil, used by Senator Sherman in his last contest for the senatorship with Foraker in 1894. Dick will be joined later in the week by an army of Hanna workers, from Cleveland and Washington, the senator himself not coming here until next Sunday. The city is filling up with members of the legislature in anticipation of the struggle and a lively time is expected. There will be an open caucus of the Republicans for senator, although that course is antagonized by the anti-Hanna men.

It will be held in the hall of the house on Wednesday evening, Jan. 5. It will furnish a line on the real situation, and perhaps demonstrate who are opposed to Mr. Hanna. The best that is now expected for the opposition is for a sufficient number of Kurtz Republicans to absent themselves from the caucus, but this is not believed to be practical.

It is given out that Hon. Charles Kurtz, the leader of the anti-Hanna combine, is breaking under the stress of the campaign and about ready for a physical collapse, but this may be to cover his retreat.

FIGHT ON THE B. & O.

Some Central Ohio Stockholders Ask For a Receiver.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 28.—The expected fight between certain stockholders of the Central Ohio Railroad company and the leased road, the Baltimore and Ohio, has begun in the United States district court. A suit was filed on the part of the dissatisfied stockholders asking the appointment of a receiver for the Central Ohio, to the end that the Baltimore and Ohio company receivers may be compelled to pay certain claims for rental and to agree to certain contracts.

These stockholders allege that $1,375,227.95 is due for rental. The application, though filed here, will be sent to Cincinnati, to be passed on there by Judge Egan.

Suicide by Inhaling Gas.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 28.—An unusual suicide was that of L. W. Kampel, a tailor, who was found by his daughter dead on his work bench. He had attached a rubber tube to the gas jet and from it inhaled the gas until he was overcome. He was at one time quite wealthy and had divided his property among his children, whose ingratitude weighed on his mind.

A Pair Secretly Wedded.

SPRINGFIELD, Dec. 28.—Levi H. Burnett, son of ex-Mayor William K. Burnett, president of the police and fire board, surprised his parents by bringing home a bride with him on his way home from Columbia college law school. The lady is Miss Clara Brown of Pittsburgh, who was secretly married to Mr. Burnett in that city last June. They were cordially welcomed.

All the Worldly Amusements.

YOUNGSTOWN, Dec. 28.—Rev. E. P. Edmonds, pastor of Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, has caused a sensation among his 1,500 members by denouncing dancing, card playing and other worldly amusements which are tabooed by the Methodist church, but which have been indulged in by not a few members of Trinity.

Massacred Persian Christians.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 28.—Yakob Sargis of Ooraminah, Persia, now in this city giving talks on Persia and Armenia, has just received a letter from friends in his Persian home informing him that a band of rangers from Koordistan had massacred all the inhabitants of a Persian Christian town, 800 souls, near Salmas, Persia.

Restaurant Men Fail.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 28.—E. W. White & Co. and Frank W. White, manager of the White Catering company, proprietors of restaurants on Fourth and Fifth streets, have assigned to A. W. Goldsmith. Total assets, $35,000; total liabilities, $31,000. The cause assigned is heavy expenses and dull trade.

An Immense Order.

MASSILLON, Dec. 28.—Russell & Co. have issued orders for the construction of farm machinery which will necessitate an outlay of over $1,000,000 for machinery and labor. The present force of workmen will be doubled. It is the largest order issued at one time in the history of the firm.

John Donaldson Dead.

CLEVELAND, Dec. 28.—John Donaldson, well known sporting man, Sullivan's trainer and Corbett's second, has died here.

MCCOY CHALLENGES FITZ.

He Thinks He, Instead of Corbett, Should Have First Chance.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Kid McCoy, the conqueror of Creedon, has issued a challenge to Fitzsimmons for a finish fight for the middleweight championship of the world. The young riddleweight announced that he has backing for $5,000 and will post a forfeit as soon as called upon to do so. He desires to meet the present champion for a purse and a side stake of at least $5,000.

McCoy at once communicated with Dan Stuart, the promoter of the Carson fight last spring, and offered to take Corbett's place in case the Californian fails to sign articles with Fitzsimmons.

"Even if Corbett is willing to fight," declared McCoy in his letter to Stuart, "I believe that I am entitled to the first chance. Corbett is a beaten man, while I have not yet been defeated. Fitz should take me on first and deal with Corbett afterward."

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—Fitzsimmons said that he had received no challenge or offer from McCoy.

"I do not agree with McCoy that he is entitled to consideration before Corbett," Fitzsimmons said. "I am willing to fight him when he has done something to put himself in my class."

Martin Julian, the champion's manager, declared that he would not consider McCoy's challenge.

A LOCKOUT WILL RESULT.

Striking Engineers in England Refuse Employers' Terms.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—The ballot taken by the striking engineers, as the outcome of the recent conference between the representatives of the employers and the men, has resulted in a rejection of the proposed compromise by 100 to 1, while the trades unions' proposal of 51 hours weekly instead of 48 has been rejected by a majority almost as large.

The ballot, therefore, is practically tantamount to a vote of no confidence in the leaders of the men. It is understood that the conference will not be resumed.

The lockout will now commence, though it is reported that several firms intend to open their shops to men willing to work on the employers' terms.

May Appoint North.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—The president is considering the qualifications of several men for the position of director of the twelfth census, but as yet has not indicated whom he may appoint. Mr. S. N. D. North of Boston, secretary of the National Association of Wool Manufacturers, who was identified with the eleventh census and is a statistician of ability, is one of those whose names are under earnest consideration.

Luetgert In a Jolly Mood.

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—Luetgert's fifty-second birthday came on yesterday and while his trial was in session, before Judge Gary, he wore a rose in his buttonhole, to celebrate the event. He was in a good humor and frequently laughed as Mrs. Agatha Tosch told of damaging statements he had made to her.

A $500,000 In London.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—A fire broke out in the drygoods store of Messrs. Jermyn & Perry, High street, Kings Lynn (Lynn-Regis) Norfolk. The local fire engine collapsed and the flames spread rapidly, soon destroying a number of the adjoining business houses. The total damage is estimated at £100,000 ($500,000).

The President May Attend.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Representative Prince of Illinois has extended to the president an invitation to attend the national encampment of the Union Veterans' Union to be held at Rock Island, Ill., next August. It is expected that the president will make a tour of the west about that time, visiting the Omaha exposition enroute. Mr. Prince was assured that the president would be glad to attend the encampment and would do so if official engagements would permit.

Electric Companies Consolidate.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 28.—The Missouri Electric Light and Power company and the Edison Electrical company, two of the largest concerns of their kind in the city, have been consolidated. The new concern will, it is stated, issue $4,000,000 of gold-bearing bonds.

THE DISTRESS IN CUBA

President McKinley Receives Woeful Information.

AMERICANS SHOULD SEND AID.

The Sum of $5,000 Received and Sent by Telegraph to Consul General Lee This Morning—Contributions Should Be Sent to Him Direct.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—The most profound distress prevails among many thousands of people in Cuba. Starvation not only impends, but is an actual fact. The president has been informed of the facts from sources whose credibility cannot be doubted. He has gone to the length of his constitutional power in calling the state of affairs to the attention of the American people. The state department has used all of its authority to mitigate the conditions there and the letter to the public sent out by Secretary Sherman the day before Christmas pointed out the way to further alleviate the miserable condition of the reconcentrados.

The sum of $5,000 has been received by Assistant Secretary Day from certain charitably disposed persons whose names are not disclosed, and this sum was remitted by telegraph early this morning to Consul General Lee for disbursement among the more pressing cases. It is hoped by the department of state that the American people will come to the relief, and that promptly, by subscriptions of money, clothing and supplies of various kinds. The newspapers are expected to lend a generous aid in carrying forward this movement.

The machinery for distribution has been provided by the state department, and Consul General Lee has undertaken, with the aid of the American consular officers in Cuba, to give personal attention to the alleviation of distress by the distribution of the gifts of the American people. One line of steamers plying between New York and Havana—the Ward line—it is said, has undertaken to forward any contributions of goods to General Lee at Havana, and it is believed that the American railroads will do their part by carrying the goods to the seaboard. The Spanish authorities have consented to remit all duties on relief supplies so forwarded. The state department directs that they be sent direct to Consul General Lee, either money by draft or check or goods. Consul General Lee cabled the state department just what is wanting at this juncture, and his list is as follows:

Summer clothing, second hand or otherwise, principally for women and children; medicines for fevers, including a large proportion of quinine; hard bread, cornmeal, beans, rice, lard, potatoes, beans, peas, salt fish, principally codfish; any canned goods, especially condensed milk for the starving children. Money will also be useful to secure nurses, medicines and for many other necessary purposes.

SURPRISING TO THE OFFICIALS.

Nothing in Woodford's Note That Should Madden the Spaniards.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—The officials here are somewhat surprised at the exhibition of feeling at Madrid over the latest note of Minister Woodford, delivered to the Spanish foreign office the day before Christmas. While the note itself will not be made public at present, it is said that there is no reason whatever why it should be withheld, save the fact that the preceding steps in the negotiations have not seen the light in the newspapers, and it is desirable, when a publication is made, to serve the complete chain of events in natural order.

Possibly the correspondence will shortly be called for by congress, in which case it is not likely to be withheld on grounds of public policy. The last note presented by Minister Woodford was in answer to the Spanish note called forth by Mr. Woodford's very first note after his arrival at Madrid. In the initial note, the United States minister pointed out the interest of his country in an early termination of the present struggle in Cuba and asked when such a conclusion could be expected. The Spanish government in its reply acknowledged our interest in the matter, but suggested, after stating what it intended to do to ameliorate conditions in Cuba, that the United States could best exercise its good offices by stopping filibustering. To this Mr. Woodford responded with his note of last week.

It is said to be a purely argumentative statement of the position taken by the United States, and the facts set out are substantially those so strongly drawn in the president's message to congress, of which it was supposed the Spanish public had been fully advised through the newspapers. The most forcible statement in the note is based upon the fact collected and published recently by the United States treasury department exhibiting the great expense to which the United States had been put by reason of its effort to patrol an enormous coast line in the pursuit of a few filibusters, and the remarkable success of the government officials in stopping these expeditions, as contrasted with the feeble efforts of the Spanish authorities to maintain a patrol around the island of Cuba.

THE LUMBER WOODS.

LIFE OF MICHIGAN LUMBERMEN IN THE WINTER.

Their Hardships and Dangers and Their Pay—Rates of Wages Higher Than Last Year—Ways of the Woods—How They Spend Their Earnings.

The effects of returning prosperity have made themselves felt in the lumber woods of Michigan in a considerable advance in the wages paid to woodsmen. Rates are from $4 to $6 a month higher than they were last year.

It is said that 21 camps are running in the Marquette region this season, employing 1,100 men—an increase of 50 to 75 per cent over last year. Operations were begun considerably earlier than usual, and wages, it is said, will average $24 a month and board instead of $12 to $18 and board, as did the ruling rates last season.

Labor in the woods presents some rather peculiar conditions. Unions are quite unknown in the camps, the wandering habits of the average woodsman making organization difficult if not impossible. Consequently the scale of wages is almost invariably fixed by the employer, though regulated more or less by the law of supply and demand. It often happens that the men do not know what their wages will be until they are paid off at the end of the job. Again, they are dependent on their employers for board and lodging, and wages are therefore placed at a certain amount a month in addition to these requirements. When a timber operator says that he is paying $20 or $26, he means that his men are receiving that sum in addition to their board.

Although wages are nominally by the month, they are practically by the day, for a man is expected to work 26 full days for a month's pay, and if he loses any time a proportionate sum is deducted from the amount due him. Some camps make an exception to this rule in cases of very stormy weather when the crew is obliged to lay off and give the men credit for the full time, but this is not always done.

Of ordinary workmen in the woods teamsters and canthook men perhaps are the best paid. The hook men are employed to pile up the logs on skidways or sleighs. The work is laborious and somewhat dangerous, requiring a quick eye, an active, muscular body and the steadiest of nerves. Teaming requires less muscular effort, but the hours are long, for the horses must be fed very early in the morning and must have more or less attention in the evening. It is cold work to sit still on a load of logs from morning till night, and the teamsters are the only men in camp who wear overcoats.

The fitters and sawyers come next in the scale of wages. The fitters prepare the timber for felling, decide which way each tree shall fall and where it shall lie, and notch the trunk in such a way that when sawed through it shall topple over in the right direction. Usually they are expert axmen. The sawyers handle the crosscut saws, fell the trees and cut the trunks into logs of the proper length.

In addition to these there are men engaged in cutting roads, making skidways and "swamping" who generally receive smaller pay. Their work is mainly done with the ax. Trees standing in the roadway are often taken out by the roots and the ground leveled to a smooth path. A skidway consists of two long, heavy poles, or skids, placed upon the ground parallel with each other and about five feet apart, one end at the edge of the roadway and the other reaching back at right angles with it. They are held firmly in position by stakes driven into the ground and by braces reaching from one to the other, forming a foundation for the log pile which is placed upon them. "Swamping" is a term applied by the lumbermen to the cutting of narrow paths from the skidways to the fallen trees, over which the logs may be drawn by the horses.

In the pulp wood camps, which are becoming more numerous year by year, arrangements are somewhat different. In some cases the cutting is done by the cord, the men being paid about 80 cents for a cord of four foot lengths. In others the payment is by the cord, but at a somewhat smaller rate, and the wood is left in sticks 12 or 16 feet. The amount cut by each man is estimated by counting the sticks, a certain number, varying according to the size of the timber, being considered equivalent to a cord. Still other camps pay their cutters by the month, but expect them to cut a certain number of sticks a day—100 usually. As a rule there are no cant hook men in a pulp wood camp, the timber being "decked," or piled up on the skids by hand instead of with hooks. Teamsters and swampers are much the same as they are in the pine camps.

With the beginning of the sleigh haul the road men—or, as they are sometimes less elegantly called, the "road monkeys," or "road hogs"—will be set to work. It is their business to go over the roads traversed by the heavy loads of timber and keep them clean and in good repair. Their work requires very little skill, and they are among the poorest paid men in the camp.

Besides these members of the crew each camp has its foreman, cook, blacksmith and chore boy, and in some cases a cookee, a clerk and a scaler. The foreman's wages vary greatly with the size of the operation and the number of men under him, $50 or more a month being paid in the larger camps. The cook often receives nearly as much. The blacksmith probably receives $26 to $30 a month, and the chore boy $15 to $20. All these figures, of course, are in addition to board. The cookee is usually an apprentice, who is learning the trade, and his wages are small. The clerks and the scaler are not properly woodsmen, and their pay varies according to the work they have to do.

Of all the woodsmen, those who receive the best pay are the river drivers. Their wages are often $2 and $2.50 a day, but their work is the hardest, the most wearing and the most dangerous. Their hours are very long, their clothing is frequently soaked with icy water, and death by drowning is not a very rare occurrence.

There are among the woodsmen some family men who are careful and saving, but a large part of them make their way to the nearest town as soon as the camps break up in the spring and spend their winter's stakes in a few days of drunkenness and riotous living. Sometimes the shanty boy will take his money to some saloon keeper and tell him to keep it and let him know when it is all used up. Then he drinks, treats and gambles on account till the saloon keeper tells him that the money is gone. Then he makes his way to some river drivers' camp and in a few weeks makes another stake as large perhaps as that earned in the whole previous winter. This, too, is blown in like the first, and the now thoroughly "busted" lumber jack takes to the railroad track to look for any job that will keep him in food and clothing until another logging season begins.—Chicago Record.

MEMORIZED THE BIBLE.

Deaf and Blind Colored Boy Who Can Quote Scripture Correctly.

"While visiting an old friend on the Tennessee river near where Shannon's creek empties in the larger stream not long since," said a country minister, "I saw a negro lad of 12 who is as great a wonder to me as Helen Keller, the world famous blind girl and deaf mute. He lives in a typical Kentucky backwoods community and has had no advantages.

"My friend asked me if I would like to see the youth, and I assured him I would. We went to the child's home, if the little but might be termed home, and before I left it I had opened my eyes wide in astonishment. The boy was born deaf and blind and with one arm. He was for years, while a mere tot, called 'the freak' by the negroes, who unfeelingly poked fun at the unfortunate. This child was given a raised letter Bible by an old nomadic missionary who happened to see the pickaninny while preaching to the negroes, and from it the boy learned every chapter in the Bible. He can quote any verse in the Scriptures and do it quickly. He spends every hour of his time in studying God's word and says he is going to teach the blind children of his race. The lad's name is Harry William Balaam Freeman, and he is a good looking mulatto. I am going to get some friends of mine to join me in a collection to be sent the boy to further his studies. His mother works in the field, and his father is a steamboat roustabout."—Louisville Post.

NOVEL HORSE TRADING.

Arcola Man Who Exchanged Sandwiches For One Rides His Bargain.

Frank Devore of Arcola, Ill., was the owner of a horse, wagon and harness which he had used for doing odd jobs of hauling. A few nights ago Devore drove the rig up in front of John Shea's restaurant on North Oak street. Shea came out and jokingly bantered Devore for a trade or offered to purchase the outfit outright, providing a satisfactory agreement could be reached. Devore asked Shea to make him an offer, which he did.

"I will give you five ham sandwiches off my lunch counter for the outfit," said Shea.

"It's a trade," was Devore's laconic rejoinder, and the property was exchanged.

During the night the horse got loose, broke into the corn bin and ate more than his cash value, putting corn at 20 cents. The next morning Shea became sick of his bargain, sent for Devore and offered him 25 cents to take the animal off his hands. Devore was condescending and took the horse and wagon and the 25 cents. Shortly afterward he drove the outfit around on Main street and disposed of it to a peddler for $1.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Left in the Lurch.

Simultaneously a young Cornish lady had three suitors, representing the church, the army and the navy. The reverend gentleman had a great advantage over his rivals, being always "on the spot." Referring to his rivals in conversation with the lady on one occasion, he made the highly interesting observation that there were "land rats and water rats."

"And cu-rats," retorted the lady.

Needless to say the parson had to look elsewhere for a wife.—London News.

The Reproach of Men.

Until you make up your mind to bear the reproach of men in the path of duty you cannot be a good Christian.—American Friend.

ANOTHER WINDOW FIRE

Called Out the Department This Morning

AND CAUSED J. R. WARNER LOSS

The Place Was Prettily Decorated With Cotton and Electric Lights, but an Accident Soon Reduced the Combination to a Scene of Desolation.

The beautiful show window that has for several days attracted the attention of hundreds of people as they passed the store of J. R. Warner, in the Diamond, was reduced to a blackened mass in a very few minutes today.

The story is soon told. The window had been decorated with cotton and incandescent lights. Soon after 8 o'clock this morning the clerks were startled by a bright light, and looking for its cause found the window a sheet of flame. An alarm brought the fire department, and in a short time the flames had been extinguished. The property, however, was lost. The big plate glass window was broken, and the mirror in the rear had ceased to be of any use. The stock displayed was ruined, and the loss will reach $200. It is covered by insurance.

It is probable that the insurance companies represented in this city will protest against the practice of putting cotton, ribbons and other inflammable materials close to electric lights. They know it presents a beautiful effect, but it is also very dangerous.

CAME HOME TO DIE

After an Absence of More Than Forty-Eight Years.

Pulaski Ferguson and Silas Ferguson have been notified of the death of their uncle, James Scott, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. Schaffer, in Coshoc-ton, last Sunday.

More than 48 years ago Mr. Scott left his home in Ohio for the gold fields of California, and he did not return until a few weeks ago. The journey was too much of a strain for his failing health and was the cause of his death. While in California Mr. Scott accumulated a large fortune, and it is invested in some of the finest ranches in that state. Mrs. S. Dennis of Trenton, is a niece and I. M. Young, of Penrith, W. Va., is his nephew.

HOLIDAY BUSINESS

Is the Largest Ever Known in the City.

Retail business in the city continues to be very good, and the banks as a result are also busy.

The business of last Friday, Saturday and yesterday was perhaps the greatest ever done in the city in the same length of time. Thousands of dollars passed over the counters of the stores, and, while the rush is looked upon as ended, a great deal of business was done today.

On the River.

The Ohio is about stationary, and the marks as registered at the wharf at noon today showed 6.4 feet.

Returning tow boats are getting back to port with large tows and are having no little trouble with the ice in the stream. The ice is known as slush ice and is from the Allegheny. When another rise comes a large amount of coal will be sent out as the river at present is too low to allow coal to be sent south.

Passed up: Pacific No. 2, William G. Horner, Tornado, B. D. Wood, Belle McGowan, Queen City and Samuel Clark.

Passed down: Keystone State, Kanawha and Ben Hur.

A report from Steubenville says:

"Some tow boat down during the night struck a pier of the Panhandle bridge, sinking several boats of coal. One boat floated down and beached opposite this city and another is fast on the riffle below the city."

Excursion Rates.

Following the annual custom, ticket agents of the Pennsylvania lines will sell excursion tickets Dec. 24, 25 and 31, 1897, and Jan. 1, 1898, for the Christmas and New Year holidays. Tickets will not be sold to adults for less than 25 cents, nor to children for less than 15 cents. Return limit of excursion tickets will include Jan. 4, 1898. ONE MONTH'S REPORT

Professor Rayman Has Closed His Books.

50 DEATHS WERE REPORTED

Among the School Children of the City. Central Building, as Usual, Leads in the Number of Pupils—More Visits by the Board.

Superintendent Rayman's statistical report of the public schools for the month beginning Nov. 29 and ending Dec. 24 is as follows:

New enrollments, males 18; females 16, total 34; entire enrollment of all buildings, males 1,219, females 1,264; monthly enrollment, males 1,126, females 1,135; re-enrollments, No. 1, males 2, females 7; re-enrollments, No. 2, males 2, females 7; Average daily attendance, males 968, females 1,065; per cent attendance, males 88, females 89; promoted, none; demoted, none. Last month there were shown 4 scholars promoted, 8 demoted. Number of pupils absent, males 748, females 785; pupils withdrawn, males 41, females 49, an increase of 11 since the last report; cases of tardiness, males 399, females 305, an increase of 210 cases over last month. Cases of truancy, males 11, females 2, an increase of three over the last report; corporal punishment 50, a decrease of seven cases; teachers absent, 21½ days; number of visits by patrons, males 13, females 30; visits by members of board of education 22. Last month seven visits were made; cases of sickness, males 371, females 302. A decrease of 184 cases over the last report; visits by superintendent, 89; deaths, none. Last month there was one death.

The above report will be presented to the board of education at the next meeting, and as the totals for the preceding month are given the board can readily see the standing of the various schools for two months and, if desired, comparisons can be made. As usual the Central building leads in the number of pupils enrolled, there being 375 males and 406 females now registered.

THE COLLEGE BOYS

Delighted a Large Audience at the Grand Opera House.

The Washington and Jefferson college clubs sang and played their best at the Grand last night, and the result was a well pleased audience.

The glee club sang well, and the solos of Mr. McDowell and Mr. Miller were heartily received. Mr. Abt, the mandolinist, was, as he always is, very good, and the mandolin and guitar clubs were greeted at the end of each performance with that applause which clearly called for a repetition.

The entertainment throughout was of the character calculated to bring out the best of feeling from the splendid audience.

After the concert Miss Alice Goodwin entertained the club at her home in Broadway. A large number of guests were present.

AN IMPORTANT MEETING.

Council Has Business of Moment to Consider.

Council will meet this evening in regular session.

A petition will be received from the Cleveland and Pittsburg company asking permission to build a switch across Union street, and the new ordinances creating the office of chief of police and placing the mayor on salary will be discussed. There is also much miscellaneous business to be transacted.

Gone to a New Home.

Frank Iden and Miss Emma Copstick were married last evening at the residence of the bride's parents in Forest street in the presence of a few intimate friends and relatives. The happy couple left on the evening train for New Brighton where they will make their future home.

Better For the Bad.

Arrangements are now being made to better the sanitary condition of the city jail, and a number of plumbers today filed bids with the city clerk, for the work.

Some Were Dismissed.

Isaac Walters has obtained judgment against Patrick Grafton for $6.

The cases brought against H. and Henry Harsha by the same party were dismissed as the bills had been paid.

Special Meetings.

Special meetings will commence tomorrow evening at the Second M. E. church. The pastor, Rev. S. B. Salmon, will conduct the services.

Now For a Clean Sweep of All Fancy Holiday Goods

HIS HORROR OF DOGS.

Alphonse Daudet's Terrible Fear of Mad Canines and Its Results.

"My most vivid recollection of youth," said the late Alphonse Daudet, "is the terrible fear that I had of the mad dog. I was brought up at nurse in a village called Fons, which must have been called so because there was no fountain and indeed no water within eight miles. It was the most arid of places, and doubtless this was to some extent the reason why there were so many mad dogs in the district.

"Now, I will tell you of the mad dogs that haunted my earliest days. My foster father was an innkeeper. His name was Garrimon, which is Provencal for 'mountain rat.' Well, Garrimon's tavern was the rendezvous of the village. The cafe was on the first floor, and I can remember how at nightfall the black bearded, dark eyed men of the village, armed to the teeth, one with a sword, another with a gun, and most with scythes, used to come in from all parts of the district, talking of nothing but the 'chin fou' (mad dog) that was scouring the land, and against whom they had armed themselves.

"But what brought my horror to a climax and left an ineffaceable impression on me was that one day I nearly met the mad dog. It was a summer evening, I remember, and I was walking home, carrying a little basket, along a path white with dust, through thick vines.

"Suddenly I heard wild cries: 'Aou chin fou! Aou chin fou!' Then came a discharge of guns. Mad with terror, I jumped into the vines, rolling head over ears, and as I lay there, unable to stir a finger, I heard the dog go by as if a hurricane were passing, heard his fierce breath and the thunder of the stones that in his mad course he rolled before him, and my heart stopped beating, in a paroxysm of terror, which is the strongest emotion that I have ever felt in all my life.

"Since then I have had an absolute horror of dogs, and by extension indeed of all animals. People have reproached me for this and say that a poet cannot dislike animals. I can't help it. I hate them all. And, curiously enough, all my children have inherited this same horror of dogs."—Philadelphia Press.

GENUINE OHIO COFFEE.

From Thirty Plants Enough Was Secured to Last Nearly a Year.

A number of families will this winter use coffee which they have raised from the seed. The experiment of raising coffee was begun in Chillicothe, O., some years ago and has now reached that point where it is no longer an experiment. This season's crop has recently been gathered and is pronounced satisfactory in every way.

Among those who have raised crops of the fragrant berry are Miss Emma Reis, Mr. Gibery Reider, Sr., Mrs. Anna Kontzen and Mrs. Caroline Reider. Seed has been distributed among a large number of persons, and in almost every case the crop has been satisfactory, both in size and quality.

From 30 plants Mrs. Reider has secured enough coffee to last her nearly a year, and the other crops were in proportion. The grains are brown and hard and when roasted and ground make an excellent coffee. In fact the families who used the coffee last year state that after they had used up their supply they were at a loss to find any on the market that was as good.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Carried a Pocket Piece Since Boyhood.

Mr. H. A. Sylvester of Rockport, Me., offers to match pennies—not for gambling purposes, though—with any man in Maine. His treasure is the first cent ever given him, and it has reposed in his pocket for years. He withstood all the candy temptations of his childhood and kept his pocket piece unspent. When he grew up, he went to sea for 14 years and never lost his cent. At one time he was wrecked and was taken from a waterlogged and dismantled vessel in so exhausted a condition that his rescuers had to remove his clothing, but he had strength enough to beg them to look out and not lose his cent. He carried it to California, where he was engaged in mining for four years, and on a trip through the wild country in Idaho and Montana. Naturally it is worn smooth, but he wouldn't exchange it for a gold eagle.—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

Why He Wanted Sand in His Coffin.

Information recently reached Stillman, Ind., of the death of a young man named Phillips in the employ of John H. Edenfield, 12 miles east of here. Phillips had been drunk for several days, and a few days ago shot himself in the abdomen with a pistol. He lingered for two days. He requested his friends to place three things in his coffin with him, one of which was a handful of sand for him to throw in the devil's face when he met him, that he might dodge by. He died with this statement without making known the other two items.—Indianapolis Journal.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., TUESDAY, DEC. 28.

SPANISH diplomacy seems from this distance just plain foolishness.

A sign of the times can be found in the fact that charitable institutions in the large cities are not now as busy as is usual at this season.

Mr. BRYAN is booked for an address in Pittsburg, and the question immediately arises "what has Pittsburg done to merit this last punishment?"

Ir Pierpont Morgan only succeeds in organizing a stove trust after his coal combination is in good working order, he will be a big man in this country.

When John Bull is thoroughly aroused the situation in the Celestial Empire will likely resemble that china shop through which his namesake went tearing a few centuries ago.

In Marquette, Mich., the business men propose to boycott all office seekers who do not patronize local merchants. They evidently want to enforce the principle which has made this country great—protection to home enterprise.

The crockery importers are brought face to face with the fact that they no longer control the situation. When their stocks are exhausted they will know that not only the American potter, but that particular gentleman engaged in the business in East Liverpool, is the master.

The revival in business continues. While there is no room to deny that in some sections of the country there is still more poverty and idleness than the people can well endure, it must be remembered that the Dingley bill is only a few months old, and it has not yet had an opportunity to do everything.

THE QUESTION.

The selection of good men for office by the Republican party simply means that a large majority of East Liverpool's voters will support the Republican ticket at the spring election. The selection of men who cannot be relied upon can only result in a large number of Republicans supporting the nominee of a party that can appreciate the trend of public sentiment and is not afraid to nominate the right kind of men. Do you want to see East Liverpool governed by Republicans, or do you want it to pass into the hands of Democrats? It is for you as a voter to say.

THOSE ORDINANCES.

The announcement that a number of councilmen have discussed the bills providing for the appointment of a chief of police and a salary for the mayor, and failed to reach a satisfactory conclusion, should not be taken as an indication that the ordinances will not receive a majority vote when they are formally presented to council.

There is a strong sentiment in favor of the movement. East Liverpool has grown tired of the old system. It does well enough for a village, but does not meet the requirements of a city such as this has grown to be. Councilmen really desirous of doing as their constituents desire can do no better than support the measure at the earliest possible moment.

AN IMPORTANT MATTER.

There is no question but what the friends and enemies of civil service will contest with some bitterness the points at issue when the matter comes formally before congress next month. General Grosvenor is not the man to abandon his position without a struggle, and his opponents seem equally determined. The outcome will be awaited with interest by the Democrats, because any serious change means the dropping of many members of the party from the official roll and the subsequent loss of considerable power; by the Republicans because it means good places for many earnest workers in the party who are as competent as the men who now fill them; by the nation because it does not believe the spirit of the government is in sympathy with the system as it was used by Grover Cleveland. Perhaps there will be surprises in store for every body before the question is settled.

VERY QUEER NAME.

Maine Boy Christened "A Godsend Lufkin" by Mistake of a Clergyman.

A Godsend Lufkin of this village has the distinction of owning the queerest name in Maine. He got it through a mistake of the clergyman who christened him.

Godsend's grandfather, old Peleg Lufkin, owned about all the wild land in the town. When he died, he left his property to his four boys in trust, the whole of it to go to the first grandson who should come into the world. At that time none of the boys was married, but they at once remedied this fault, every one taking a wife inside of a year from the time the will of their father was made. Six years after his wedding the wife of George Lufkin presented to him a son, who was entitled to the great estate under the terms of the will. It was agreed that the boy's mother should bestow the name, but she neglected to tell the minister about it before the party had assembled in the church. Then when the clergyman asked what name he should bestow the child's father spoke up and said: "I think you'd better call him a godsend, because he has proved that to my family."

The words spoken in jest were taken in earnest by the clergyman, who proceeded to formally christen the boy as "A Godsend Lufkin," a name which he bears today. As he got nearly $100,000 worth of property along with his name he is trying to stand it.—New York Sun.

WINTERGILL IS COMING.

He Expects to Be Here in a Short Time.

Ralph Wintergill has written to his relative, Mrs. Thomas Bettridge, stating that he would leave Columbus this morning and go direct to Pittsburg. From there he will go to Beaver Falls to visit his brother, who is very ill. He expects to be here within the next two weeks.

The report that he refused to leave Columbus is without foundation.

Two Deaths.

Charles Heckathorn, aged 19, died at the home of his mother, Mrs. Heckathorn, in East End, last night, from consumption. The funeral will take place from the Second M. E. church tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in Riverview.

James, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Brozka, died at their home in Cook street, this morning. The funeral will take place Thursday, the seventh anniversary of the little one's birth.

Sporting Notes.

The Rovers are endeavoring to arrange a game with the All Pittsburg team to be played Saturday afternoon at West End park.

The Twin Cities will hold a business meeting the early part of next week.

Dave Hall, the colored cyclone of Rochester, who is well known in the city, is trying to arrange a match with Herman Beck.

A number of the local ball players will endeavor to secure positions in the Ohio league.

WELLSVILLE.

THE BONUS IN SIGHT

Money For the Pottery Is Being Rapidly Raised.

FEW THOUSANDS ARE NEEDED

To Complete the Amount by the Liverpool People Who Are Behind the Plan—Success Is Promised—All the Good News of Wellsville.

It really seems as though Wellsville is to have another pottery. The board of trade has the plan well laid and almost enough money to make up the bonus has been subscribed.

The board has been working on the scheme for a long time, but the task to raise the $15,000 asked by the promoters was only started the other day. Since then the solicitors have been very successful. Last night the paper contained pledges amounting to almost $12,000, leaving a sum so small that its collection is almost assured.

The people who will build the pottery are Liverpool men, some of them having had long experience in potting. It is believed they will not only build a first class plant, but they will be able to operate it successfully.

One leading member of the board of trade believes this is the first of a movement that will add greatly to the importance of Wellsville as a manufacturing town.

Personal.

James Patterson and wife left for Burgettstown this morning.

William Davidson and family, who have been visiting relatives here, left for Cleveland this morning.

Misses Olve and Mary Hays are visiting friends in Salineville.

Mrs. William Snyder is confined to her home with an attack of grip.

Master Harry Workman is on the sick list.

John McCollough, who has been ill for a few days, is able to be out again.

The two little children of William Lancaster, who have been so ill with diphtheria, are reported much better this morning. Doctor Robinson says the quarantine will be lifted in a few days.

Shop Notes.

Mr. Menough is in Allegheny on business.

Two engineers and five firemen left on train 35 this morning to enter the employ of the Ft. Wayne company. The freight on the Ft. Wayne road has been very heavy of late and they were compelled to secure more engineers. Those leaving Wellsville are: Mr. Cable, Mr. Mackenzie, Mr. Ralston, W. O. McMannist, P. Brookman, H. Ralston and Peter Reddy. They may be absent several months.

J. A. Windrom is again on duty after a brief illness.

Tom McCreary again resumed work after an absence of several days.

Closed the Store.

The clothing store of D. Mannist was closed this morning, and is now in the hands of F. L. Wells and W. D. Lones, attorneys. The claims against Mr. Mannist are as follows:

A VERY WARM MEETING

Was Held at the Christian Church Last Night.

THE ACTION WILL NOT STAND

Says a Member of the Congregation Who is a Warm Friend of Professor Reed. He Does Not Take Stock in Talk of Arbitration.

An unusually interesting meeting of the official board of the Christian church was held last night.

It was called for the purpose of nominating officers for the next year, but some other matters appeared before the meeting came to an end. A ticket was named, but it is probable that another list of candidates will be presented on election day.

The differences in the church were brought out and discussed at length. Reverend Moffatt, secretary of the State Missionary association, who, it is understood, was brought here for the purpose of having some part in the controversy, was present and heard the questions as they were brought out. At length it was decided that Prof. O. S. Reed, John Scott, Oliver Vodrey and William Steel should select a committee of entirely disinterested parties who are to consider the questions. The committee will also prepare the statements for this board of arbitration, as it is called. It is given out that one matter to be decided is whether the deposing of the three elders recently is in accordance with rules of the church.

Parties who are acquainted with the details of the meeting would not talk much this morning, but a member of the church, who is also a warm personal friend of Reverend Reed, said:

"The action of last night was irregular and illegal. You ask me why? Well, because one of the deposed elders, deposed by the members of the congregation at a former meeting, and who now occupies the berth of trustee, presided as chairman of last night's meeting. He refused to recognize the elders lately elected by the people, by an overwhelming majority, and recognized the elders whom the congregation, by an overwhelming majority, had deposed. Had the elders lately elected by the congregation been recognized and permitted to vote, the vote of last night would have been eleven to eight in the pastor's favor; had the three elders lately deposed not been allowed to vote, the vote would have stood eleven to five in the pastor's favor. The meeting of last night was a determined effort to defeat the will of our members; but it will not avail. The rules of our church make the nomination by the official board a necessity; but the congregation have the further right, in open session, to also nominate, and last night's attempt to defeat the will of the majority will prove a signal failure, as should be the case. There will be no appeal to arbitration, or to a board of ministers, as each congregation into itself, the majority ruling. It is my belief, and I believe it to be the will of a very large majority of the members of our church, that we should depose from office and power any individual or individuals who will not bow to the action of the majority, but who, on the contrary, show by their actions, which speak louder than words, that their plan is to rule or ruin, and I firmly believe that they will neither rule or ruin, as our cause is builded on the solid rock of justice and right."

"Reverend Moffatt was asked last night if he approved of three elders setting themselves up against the remainder of the church, and he asked a few minutes to think over the question before he replied. When he did answer he said emphatically that he believed that course to be most unwise. The gentleman gives Reverend Reed a most flattering recommendation."

TRADES COUNCIL

Is Asked to Take Part in the Anti-Scalping Controversy.

A letter has been received in this city from F. C. Donald, commissioner of the Central Traffic association, asking that Trades council adopt resolutions favoring the anti-scalping bill, now in the hands of the inter-state commerce committee of the senate and house.

A copy of the resolution is attached, and asks for the prompt passage of the bill as it is in the interest of the public morals. It also makes a personal appeal to the senators and representatives who represent the council.

A letter was also received from a Chicago union asking that the council adopt the resolution.

The matter will be presented to Trades council at their next meeting, but it is not probable the desired resolutions will be adopted.

Some of His Friends Found Him the Necessary Money and He Will Not Go to the Works—Christmas Culprits Are Paying Their Bills.

Several new faces were seen in jail this morning and some of the guests who arrived Saturday paid their bills and left.

The first arrival last evening was a man who gave the name of Mr. Hill. He came at the request of Officers Morley and Terrence and the patrol. He was charged with being drunk, and when heard today was given $6.60.

Mr. Thomas Pierce, West End, was the next name on the register. Mr. Pierce is not a stranger and was invited by Officer Jennings and the patrol. He was drunk, and his bill amounted to $6.60.

Robert Donaldson, who was to be taken to the works this morning, was released last night. His friends interceded, and he was fined $5 and costs.

Jim Conners was taken to the infirmary this morning by the township trustees. He has several broken ribs.

The case of Mrs. Fred Humes, who charges her husband with assault and battery, is slated for 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The trouble occurred Christmas evening. Several witnesses have been summoned, but it is probable the case will be settled out of court.

A number of the people who were arrested Saturday were released yesterday, they having paid or arranged to pay their fines. There are at present four old lodgers and three new people in custody.

WILL ENLARGE.

The Surprise Clothing Store Finds This a Necessity.

A visit to the clever proprietor, M. Feldman, brought out the following this morning:

"Yes, I have had a very successful business ever since my advent in East Liverpool, and my Christmas trade was a pleasing surprise, so much so that I have found that it is an absolute necessity to enlarge my storeroom, which shall be done in the very near future. My chief aim is to please and profit the people, by furnishing them good goods at reasonable prices, and my splendid trade while in this city convinces me that the public at large appreciates this fact. In the meantime, while arrangements are being completed for enlargement, greater bargains than ever will control, and the purchasers of clothing, furnishings, hats and caps will reap a harvest."

POTTERS UNITING.

It Will Soon Be One Great Working Union.

A special from Trenton says this of an interesting matter:

"Representatives of the Potters' National union, the National Kilnmen, Dippers' and Saggarmakers' association and the National Brotherhood of Operative potters, in session here today, agreed upon the amalgamation of the three associations, thus bringing all the operative potters into one national organization. The plan of amalgamation is yet to be decided upon."

President Hughes, of the Brotherhood, is attending the meeting.

RUN DOWN BY A WAGON.

Albert McMillen May Be Internally Injured.

Albert McMillen, the 8-year-old son of James McMillen, of 209 Lincoln avenue, was badly injured this morning by being run over by an oil wagon in charge of Reddy Mason.

The lad had been coasting down Lincoln avenue, and in some manner fell while going up the hill. The wagon passed over the boy's neck and body.

A physician was summoned, and after a careful examination it was found no bones were broken. The boy was suffering much pain at noon today, and it was thought he might have been injured internally.

Found the Money.

This morning a lady accompanied by her husband purchased a pair of rubbers in an uptown shoe store, and when she opened her pocketbook to pay for them, she found that she had lost her money.

The couple hastily left the store, and, going to a business house which they had just left, found the money lying on the counter.

Colorado's Women's Clubs.

The annual directory of the Colorado Federation of Women's Clubs, recently issued, shows that 32 of the towns and cities of the state have their women's clubs, where last year there were only 21. The membership in the aggregate this year is 4,039, where last year it was only 2,602. Denver leads with the largest number of clubs, having 24. Last year it had 15. Before the biennial meeting of the general federation in Denver next summer every village in the state promises to be represented in the state federation.—Denver Republican.

The total number of copies of news papers printed throughout the world in one year is 12,000,000,000. To print these requires 781,240 tons of paper, or 1,562,480,000 pounds, while it would take the fastest single press 333 years to print a single year's edition, which would produce a stack of papers nearly 50 miles high.

JOE SMITH'S OLD HORSE

Caused the Arrest of Its Bibulous Owner

It Finally Reached That Point Where Its Disgust Could No Longer Be Disguised, and It Wandered Down Town Where It Attracted a Crowd.

An old horse, poor and hungry, stood for several hours in Fourth street yesterday afternoon. When evening came it wandered to a point near the junction of Union and Second streets. That is why Joe Smith, colored, spent the night in city hall.

The horse is one that would attract attention anywhere. Its ribs are among its most prominent features, and it seems to have passed through all kinds of trials and tribulations since it last had a good meal. Its harness, made in the main of wire and old ropes, had cut into the skin, and the whole presented a combination well calculated to excite pity. The crowd evidently thought so, for a number of children were feeding the poor animal hay when Smith came down the street with a shovel on his shoulder. He became angry when he saw his horse being fed, and ordered them to desist, adding force to his remarks by kicking the animal. A bystander objected, and someone called the patrol. Smith was arrested and taken to jail, and the horse was removed to a stable. Several persons were anxious to have the officers look after the horse, but they refused.

During the excitement a drunken tailor, who had become involved in a row with a number of colored men, appeared on the scene and demanded that the police arrest everybody in that part of town. He was ignored. Smith was fined $6.00 today.

Christmas at Fredericktown.

Christmas was observed at Fredericktown in a most enjoyable manner. The Methodist Episcopal Sunday school and a great many of its friends assembled at the church where a splendid program was carried out.

Hon. D. J. Smith presided, and made the address of the evening, and his friends declare that it was one of the best speeches in his long career as an orator. The music was a special feature of the evening. A handsome Christmas tree graced the church, and every person present was remembered.

Two Wildcats.

A Wells-Fargo messenger on the Santa Fe train had an unusual experience. Among the articles in his care was a cage containing two wildcats, consigned from Fall Brook, in this state, to Martin's Ferry, O. The messenger from whom he received them said they had been behaving very well, but no sooner was he started on his run than they got into a terrible fight. The frail bars of the cage bent so under their battering that he drew a couple of revolvers and watched them, ready to fight for his life in case they got loose. When the growls, snarls and spitting finally had ceased, the messenger took a lantern and looked into the cage. Where there had been two big wildcats, weighing respectively 50 and 40 pounds in spite of their gauntness, there was now one sleek 90 pound wildcat and a few hairs and bones of the other. The surviving beast was sent rejoicing on its way, billed as "two wildcats."—San Francisco Argonaut.

Golf Pointers.

In the absence of the regular golf editor the following question from a beginner was referred to the turf editor for an answer: "In a game of golf is it right to fuzzle your put or is it better to futter on the tee?" The turf editor set his teeth firmly, stared hard at the wall in front of him a few moments and wrote the following reply: "In case a player snaggles his iron it is permissible for him to fuzzle his put, but a better plan would be for him to drop his guppy into the pringle and smoodle it out with a niblick."—Chicago Tribune.

High Art on the High Seas.

"It was a rather expensive ocean trip that Splasher took."

"What happened?"

"A frightful storm came up and the captain throw Splasher's oil paintings overboard to calm the waves."—Chicago Record.

A GRAB BY RUSSIA.

Kin-Chau, Near Port Arthur, Taken by the Fleet of the Casr.

St. PETERSBURG, Dec. 28.—The Russians have occupied Kin-Chau, north of Port Arthur.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—Eli T. Sheppard, who has recently returned from China, where he held an official position, commenting upon the reported occupation of Kin-Chau by Russia, said:

"Kin-Chau is an important walled city (not an open port) at the head of the Gulf of Lan Tung, and it commands the mouth of the river Yaloo, where the great naval battle between the Japanese and Chinese was fought, and the other important rivers which flow into the gulf. It is about equidistant between the mouth of the Yaloo river and the terminus of the great wall of China. It commands the railway system recently constructed from the Tien Tsin to the capital of Manchuria, and is of pre-eminent importance as a strategic position."

"The seizure of the port shows that Russia has practically taken possession of Korea, Manchuria and the Gulf of Lan Tung, and possesses a significance which will cause consternation among the diplomats of the old world. Its situation is such that its possession practically places Russia in a position to defy the world."

AGREED ON A PLAN.

Record Stock to Be Used to Arrange Singler's Affairs.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28.—The conference selected to formulate a plan of settlement of the affairs of the Chestnut Street National bank and the Chestnut Street Trust and Savings Fund company, of which William M. Singler, proprietor of The Record, was president, and which closed their doors last Thursday, have presented their plan for the consideration of depositors and creditors.

The chief measure suggested is the issuance of Record stock to secure the creditors.

Line, to be No Strike.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Dec. 28.—The latest proposition of the operatives and the answer of the manufacturers have again left matters in this city in rather an uncertain condition, although by many the outcome anticipated is an acceptance by the operatives, at least for the present, of the reduction.

NO DECISION REACHED

Councilmen Discussed Important Bills.

Before Action Is Taken on the Ordinances Providing For a Chief of Police and a Salary For the Mayor—Talking Annexation.

Councilmen Peach, Marshall, Horwell, Challis and Stewart met last evening at city hall, and discussed the ordinances creating the office of chief of police, placing the mayor on a salary, and annexing contiguous territory.

The committee could not arrive at a conclusion in regard to the ordinances dealing with the chief of police and mayor, and they will be discussed again before being presented to council.

The ordinance enlarging the corporate limits was acceptable to every member of the committee, and it is probable it will pass council in its original form, with the exception that the property of the Neville institute was left in the township.

HEAVY BUSINESS.

Continues to Keep the Postal Force at Work.

Postmaster Miskall said to a reporter last evening, that on Friday last more stamps were sold in this city than there has been since he has been in office. From the time the window opened in the morning until it closed in the evening there were $318.75 worth of stamps sold. Most of these were two cent stamps, but the other denominations also had a good sale.

The reports of the other departments of the office are not yet complete. On Thursday last 80,000 postal cards were received, and at the rate they are being sold it will not be long before another supply will be ordered.

SCOOPING THE BOYS.

Frank Searight Is Making a Record in Buffalo.

Frank T. Searight, who was for several years on the local force of the News Review, and is known to a great many people in the city, is making a record for himself as police reporter of the Buffalo Enquirer. The other day he succeeded in scooping the other papers of the city on the three best news items of the week, and was loudly applauded at the office. He has gained for himself the distinction of being the best police court reporter in Buffalo, and his friends here are sure it will not be long until he is raised to a better position.

THE BOY DIDN'T COME BACK

And the Valise and Package Cannot Be Found.

The other day Harry Fielding, clerk at the Thompson House, was about to go to his home in Steubenville, but had occasion to go up town. In order that he might make no mistake he sent his valise and a valuable package to a Second street restaurant. He missed the train, and sent a boy for the articles. The boy did not return and search was instituted, but without good result. Neither boy nor valise can be found.

The matter has been reported to the police, but there is little prospect of the property being recovered.

Dillon, district passenger agent of the Pennsylvania lines, 360 Fifth avenue, Pittsburg, will help you arrange for a trip to California or to Florida and the south. It will be a pleasant one if you consult him. He won't charge a cent for his services which will include selection of route, the procuring of through tickets, reservation of sleeping car accommodations, and arranging all details. Better drop him a letter today and find out the big help he can be to intending travelers.

Get Out of the Cold.

You may quickly pass from a cold to a warm climate via Pennsylvania lines from East Liverpool, the direct tourist rate route through Chicago and St. Louis to California, and through Cincinnati or Louisville to Florida and the south. For details apply to J. K. Dillon, district passenger agent, 360 Fifth avenue, Pittsburg.

A Week of Rest.

The freight depot is not this week the scene of active operations, and as Agent Thomas remarked this morning, the boys are taking a well earned rest.

A little ware is received each day for shipment, but the amount is not sufficient to cause any inconvenience. After the potteries resume operations the big time of last fall is expected.

A PRECARIOUS PUSH.

THE HONEYMOON AND A CHRISTMAS ADVENTURE.

BY F. A. ORRER.

All our friends said we were foolish, and really I suppose we were—foolish in the first place to fall in love; foolish to get married, and, lastly, foolish to spend our honeymoon in the Yosemite.

Yes, they declared that to be the crowning act of all our foolish deeds, and they washed their hands and cleared their skirts of us entirely. But, bless them, we didn't care. Alicia and I had fallen in love with each other just because we couldn't help it, and we didn't want to either—that is, we didn't want to "help it." And we cared not a straw what our friends thought or did so long as they let us entirely alone.

And at the end of the week, when the others started for the return trip, we proved the integrity of our intentions by remaining behind. It was then late in September, and soon, the guardian of the valley told us, the first snowflakes would fly and not long after the Yosemite would be closed entirely to the outside world.

"Yes, indeed," he said, "there won't be nobody in here except now and then a logging team and whoever's left over. So I'd advise you two to get out mighty soon."

"But we don't want to get out," I exclaimed, and my wife nodded her head affirmatively. "We want to stay here all winter, all alone."

"Yes, and don't you know of some nice little cabin we can hire?" asked Alicia. "Any kind of a hut will do, so long as it can be made warm and comfortable. We want to stay all by ourselves."

"Sho! You don't say! Yes, I do know of one. It's that log cabin over the river. But it'll be awful lonesome, let me tell you. There won't be nobody but me within a mile and p'rhaps half a dozen families scattered over the whole seven mile stretch of the valley."

"What! Do you mean that darling little log hut among the apple trees, with the tiny flower garden in front and the river flowing by?"

"That's the one. The man who built it has gone east; staid here one winter, and it was too lonely for him. If you really want it, I can put you in possession at once."

"If we want it!" I exclaimed, ready to hug the old man on the spot. And I was almost afraid Alicia would hug him then and there, but she didn't, only her eyes shone, and she clasped her hands for joy.

"Why, we don't want anything else in this wide, wide world!" she exclaimed. "It will be perfect, just too heavenly for anything!"

"Well, guess you'll want a little something else," rejoined the dear old man, "some provisions, for instance, fuel, and the like."

At this sudden descent to sublunary and substantial things our countenances fell. We hadn't thought but that we could live on air perhaps or on ambrosial nectar. We looked at each other doubtfully.

The old man noted our disappointment and hastened to add: "Well, now, don't feel bad about it. I'll arrange for all that. Fact is, the cabin's supplied with pretty much everything except fresh meat—flour, meal, bedding, blankets, cooking things—and if you haven't got the money with you we'll trust you till spring opens for all you want."

"Oh, we've got money enough," I remarked. "I'll pay you any price you ask and feel forever indebted to you into the bargain." And I wrung the old man's hand so warmly that he turned aside with a suspicious moisture in his eyes and remarked under his breath and with a sigh: "Dear me! I was young myself once. It's nice to be young."

The hotel closed the very next day, but none too soon for us, as we were wild to get installed in our new quarters. The old guardian showed us where the provisions were stored, instructed us how to make a fire in the great fireplace and how to cook over the open hearth with the primitive utensils of our ancestors. There were two rooms in the hut, each about 14 feet square, one being for a bedroom and the other for kitchen, dining room and parlor. The great oak logs were well chinked with clay, the stout floor timbers neatly covered with pine boards, and a little square window in each room looked out over the broad and winding river. The frost had not yet touched the flowers in the garden, and soon the best of them were potted and indoors, where, with the ferns and the few pictures we had brought with us, they bore witness how a woman's dainty touch can evoke from bare walls a suggestion of home.

Finally winter closed in earnest. All the trails were filled with snow, the waterfalls converted into sheets of crystal and mounds of silver, the gaunt cliffs and great trees hung with heavy draperies. Then we staid within doors almost entirely, except that I sallied out every day to cut wood for the insatiable fireplace until a pile was heaped against the cabin almost as big as the hut itself. The time passed as quickly enough, and Christmas day at last overtook us, finding us busy and happy, but with a larger sorely depleted.

Alicia and I were out in the snow gathering holly and mistletoe for the decorating of the cabin when our friend, the old guardian, came along, a rifle in the hollow of his arm and a dog at his heels. "Bet a dollar you folks haven't a pound of 'fresh meat in the house,'" was his first remark after greetings were over, "and I've mark after greetings were over, 'and I've called to see if Mr. Alfred won't go with me on a little hunt.'"

"Yes, dear, do go," said my beaver little wife, but her eyes were tear gathering. I noticed, as she took down the rifle from above the fireplace and placed it in my hands. "I'm not afraid to stay alone during the daytime, and then, you know, I've that pudding to make, which will keep me busy while you're gone."

So I kissed her and left her, and yet my heart misgave me as I turned around an hour later while climbing the trail up the cliffs and saw her still standing in the doorway, watching us wistfully. It is a stiff climb up to Glacier point, and by the time we had arrived at the forest covered plateau the exercise in the cool crisp air had started my blood coursing rapidly, and I was in fine spirits. My friend directed me to take the trail to the left, while he swung around to the right, promising to join me within three hours' time.

"Shoot whatever you see," was his final word at parting. "It won't be much anyhow, but remember we're out for meat!"

That was unfortunate advice, for not more than an hour later, coming suddenly upon a strange track in the forest and shortly after looking ahead and seeing a

queer but immense gray creature shambling through the snow and being at a loss what to call it, I thought a well directed bullet might disclose its identity and so threw up my rifle and let drive.

My friends would have felt perfectly justified in calling me a fool could they have seen me make that foolish shot and have seen the big gray monster turn around and disclose to my astonished gaze the unmistakable head and hideous fangs of a grizzly bear! I had never seen one before, except in a cage, but there was no doubt whatever about this one. And he left me not long in doubt as to his intentions either when he wheeled about with a snarl and a growl and took the trail in my direction.

The blood was oozing from a wound in his flank, but that was nothing more than a flea bite to his bearship, though good excuse enough for revenge. I looked about me and saw to my horror that I was between him and the edge of the cliff, which at this point descends sheer 3,000 feet. Projecting over the edge of the precipice was an immense rock like the bowsprit of a ship and some 15 or 20 feet in length. It may look like an insane move that I made tracks for this perilous position, 3,000 feet above the valley floor, but there seemed nothing else to do unless I went straight toward the bear. I remember that I felt then that my time had come and wondered confusedly what Alicia would say and do when, perhaps days or weeks later, she should view my mangled remains at the foot of the great cliff. However, I ran for all I was worth, and as I ran on, mechanically ejected the empty shell from my rifle and slipped in another cartridge. It was a six shooter, and I resolved if only for Alicia's sake not to die until I had given grizzly the full benefit of every shot. He was shuffling along clumsily, but relentlessly, and was close upon me as I slipped over the bank. If I had carried out my hastily conceived plan of going out on the protruding rock, I should not have lived to tell this story, but just as I reached its base I slid down into a crevice behind and a little to one side of it.

That unintentional move saved my life, for, seeing me go over, my pursuer rushed fiercely after and could not restrain his impetus until well out on the rock. It was extremely slippery, incased as it was in ice, with a sheet of snow atop, and he had hard work to keep his footing, and as he stood there, growling terribly and shifting his position uneasily, yet looking down and all around for me, a germ of hope came into my mind. I saw that it would not take much to send him crashing down upon the rocks at the foot of the cliff, and I trembled lest he should get off the rock before I had given him a little jolt. I could see him quite clearly, as he wasn't more than 20 feet away, and that instant also he saw me, wedged into the crevice back of him.

He tried to scramble about and reverse his position, but as he turned I drew a bead just behind his shoulder and sped a bullet there. His situation was precarious enough at the first, but now in his frantic struggles to turn about—and perhaps made giddy by the two wounds—he swayed considerably. Into the ice sheet and the snow he sent his crooked claws, making desperate efforts to regain his balance, but another ball crashed into his ear and that settled him. Over he went, clawing and fighting the empty air, whirling down, down, through space, until he was dashed with a terrible shock upon the rocks 3,000 feet below.

share his fate, but after a prayer of thankfulness at my escape I slowly crawled to the brow of the precipice. The old man met me soon after and had to support me over a portion of the downward trail, I was so unnerved.

After a detour of several miles we finally reached the base of the cliff over which grizzly had fallen, and there we found him, a very much used up bear. His skin, however, was not so badly torn but it later served as a rug for our cabin floor, though it was long before Alicia could look upon it with composure.

The bear meat, the old guardian said, was tender and toothsome—probably from the pounding it got—but Alicia and I could not bring ourselves to taste it. In fact, though our hearts sang with joy and we were thankful for our blessings, with the true Christmas spirit, yet we could not do justice to that Christmas dinner. Even the pudding, which the old man declared a conspicuous success, was neglected, for my little wife did nothing but shudder, and, throwing her arms around my neck, whisper, with her lips close to my ear, "Dearest, I shall never let you out of my sight again!"

scratches in horses.

In rainy weather, when there is plenty of mud, unless care is taken to clean it off and wipe the feet dry the horses are liable to be attacked with scratches or grease heel. If the legs get muddy and the animal gets heated and then is put into a cold stable without cleaning off to get cold and shiver, conditions are supplied that are favorable for the development of this disease. Allowing the horses to get fat and to stand in the stables with no exercise and upon a pile of heating is also favorable to this disease. Prevention is much easier than cure. A proper regard for comfort and cleanliness will readily prevent this disease.

When the horses come in at night, if the legs are wet or muddy they should be carefully washed off in tepid water and then wiped dry with a cloth. If the scratches appear, as soon as the fact is ascertained wash the feet with tepid water and castile soap and then wipe dry. If there is inflammation, make a hot poultice and sprinkle finely powdered charcoal over it, applying one in the morning and renewing it at night until the inflammation subsides. Then apply a lotion made of one ounce of sugar of lead dissolved in a pint of water. When it begins to heal, use veterinary vaseline. Continue the treatment until thoroughly cured. Keep the horse quiet and supply sufficient bedding to keep the feet clean. If taken in hand at the first stages, washing clean with warm water and castile soap, wiping dry and applying veterinary vaseline will effect a cure in three or four days. In severe cases in addition to the treatment given it may be necessary to give a good cathartic.—St. Louis Republic.

Her Great Need.

Every woman ought to pay a reasonable degree of attention to her person, and especially to having her hair neatly and becomingly dressed.

Two days after a great fire had devastated a north country village a worthy philanthropist of the place was serving out clay pipes and tobacco as relief for the poor homeless men when a young woman presented herself before him. The line, of course, had been made up of men, and the donor asked the girl, who was extremely pretty and refined in appearance, what she wanted with a pipe. She blushed and repeated her request.

"Why, you do not smoke!" said the worthy philanthropist.

"No, but please give me a pipe."

"If you will tell me what you are going to do with it, I'll give you one."

The girl hesitated, and then, raising her hand to the fringe of her hair that hung limp over her forehead, she said:

"I want to curl my fringe."

She got the stem of the broken pipe and went away laughing. She had been rescued from a burning house only 24 hours before and was then almost on the verge of starvation, and when she sought the pipe to curl her hair she was unquestionably badly in need of clothing.—Strand Magazine.

It Was Play For Him.

The train ran off the track and plunged down a steep embankment.

Engine, baggage car, coaches and sleepers were jumbled in one awful mass.

The groans of the injured passengers rent the air.

It was frightful. Jones, the world renowned half back, partially awoke.

Three passenger cars were piled on top of him.

A piece of pipe was coiled around his neck.

The rim of one of the great driving wheels of the engine rested on his face. His legs were pinned down by a heavy beam.

A pillow had been forced against his mouth and nose, making it impossible for him to breathe.

His arms were pressed against his sides, and he tried in vain to move.

But willing hands were at work upon the wreck, and at last Jones, the world renowned half back, was dragged out.

Looking around, in a dazed sort of way, at his rescuers, he asked:

"How many yards did we gain on that 'down,' boys?"—Cleveland Leader.

poison instead.

The appetite and strength, and vital energies fail, and frequently the delicate lung tissues become affected. But there is no use in cough syrups and "expectorants" and mere stimulating "extracts." This trail of wasting debility must be broken short off by getting at its fundamental causes in the blood, and no medicine in the world does this so scientifically and thoroughly as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It directly reanimates the liver and digestive organs and gives them power to produce an abundant supply of pure, red, life-giving blood which stops the wasting process and creates fresh tissue, healthy flesh and permanent strength.

It is the invention of an educated and widely experienced physician. Dr. Pierce has been for nearly thirty years chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N.Y. His 1000-page illustrated book, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," will be sent free for the cost of mailing only: 21 one-cent stamps, or cloth-bound for 31 stamps. It is of priceless value in any home. One chapter gives a full account of some astonishing recoveries of apparently hopeless victims of lung and throat affections and other wasting diseases which seemed beyond the reach of medicine.

DOUBLE DEALING

Double dealing, like so many other expressions in the Anglo-Saxon language, has different meanings. The text or heading does not refer to the deceitful, hypocritical specimens of manhood who curry favor for their own ends and keep a community in a ferment by retailing scraps of confidences. This time 'tis the double dealing of the little conqueror, Doan's Kidney Pills—to be more correct, the double healing. One member of a family tests them. Like disease, the infection spreads. Another tries them, an acquaintance or a friend, maybe. Result the same—a cure. Read the statement that follows, made by Mrs. Edmund Purton, of 233 Ravine Street. She says: "Both my husband and I can testify to the value of Doan's Kidney Pills. I had backache, headache and other symptoms of the complaint for two years. When the last attack came on I went to the W. & W. Pharmacy, and got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills. In a very short time I was relieved."

"My husband, who is a painter, decorator and paperhanger, of the firm of Purton & Jackson, was seized with a severe attack of kidney complaint lately. Some three years ago he contracted a fever, which left his kidneys in bad shape, and ever since he has had more or less trouble. When suffering last a gentleman advised him to try Doan's Kidney Pills, emphasizing the facts that he had been a sufferer with kidney disease; confined to his bed; his physician informed him that perhaps he would be able to get him up in two or three weeks; that he used Doan's Kidney Pills, and in a day or two he was able to be up and about his business. The gentleman spoke so highly about the remedy that my husband got a box at once. They were prompt in relieving him. I felt better generally. We can heartily recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. I hear numbers of people speak well of them."

Doan's Kidney Pills are sold by all dealers. Price 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50. By mail on receipt of price by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

The Considerate Woman.

It was at the busiest hour of the busiest day the store had seen in a long time, and the busiest place in all the store was the lace department. Four women, four frantically eager women, were waiting. The fifth woman had the only saleswoman at that end of the counter and was looking at lace, real lace. I think she must have examined a dozen pieces. The four women seemed on the verge of apoplexy.

"Haven't you something wider?" asked the fifth woman.

"Certainly," answered the tired saleswoman, dragging out another box. "This is $15 a yard."

The eyes of the fifth woman glistened. "Yes," she said to her companion, "that's like mine. I just wanted to know what he paid for it. That's all."

And she sailed out of the shop. Not one of the four women waiting found a word to say, but the saleswoman gasped weakly, "Well, I never!"—Washington Post.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

R. C. Henderson, of Steubenville, was in the city on business yesterday.

The water works employees yesterday put in new plungers at the pump house.

At least 500 people yesterday afternoon enjoyed the skating at Mark's pond.

Miss May Dopler is ill at her home in Helena with an attack of typhoid fever.

John Powell left today for a visit with friends in Pittsburg and Johnstown.

Mrs. J. N. Rose has not rallied for several days, and is in a very dangerous condition.

Frank Dickey yesterday sold a fine driving team to Mrs. F. M. Gusky, of Pittsburg.

The household effects of W. A. Tanner were received at the freight depot yesterday. They came from the east.

Work was commenced this morning connecting the sprinkler system at the Standard pottery to the high service mains.

Three cases of typhoid fever were reported to the health department today. There is not a case of scarlet fever or diphtheria in the city.

There will be an informal hop for the Elks and their ladies at their handsome new hall tonight, after the entertainment at the opera house is over.

With cold weather comes the old story that the West End park will be leased for a skating park. There is probably no truth in the report.

A small shipment of ware was sent to Allegheny on the first train this morning. It was the first shipment of the week, but only three baskets were sent up.

H. A. Silvey, of the Washington and Jefferson Mandolin club, was a roommate of Attorney W. H. Vodrey when they were students at the University of Michigan.

Her many friends in the city will be pleased to learn that Mrs. John Lloyd Lee is somewhat improved today, although the lady is still in a dangerous condition.

A part of the street force is today cutting the ice in Avondale street as it had become so slippery that it was almost impossible for a heavily laden team to climb the hill.

The Cleveland and Pittsburg road sent a carload of gravel to this city last evening. It will be used for filling in purposes about the Second street and Broadway crossings.

James Webber, who has for several years handled Christmas trees, says if the practice of cutting them is not confined within a reasonable limit they will be very scarce in this vicinity within a few years.

It is said that a movement of importance was recently made by which the affairs of the Canton and East Liverpool railroad were greatly improved. An announcement of interest is expected in the near future.

Friends in the city have been notified of the death of Mrs. Norman Jones last night at her home in Washington C. H. She was the mother of Miss Lucile Jones, a member of the corps of teachers of the Central building.

Dr. C. B. Ogden yesterday afternoon found the jaw bone of a woman lying in Pleasant street. He picked it up, and will keep it. The back teeth were good. It had probably been carried from the old cemetery by children.

Irwin Daniels appeared before the mayor this afternoon on a charge of assault and battery made by William Connell. Daniels pleaded not guilty, and will stand trial. He is employed at Harker's pottery.

An old resident who has been keeping tab on the weather for a great many years, says that we must not be deceived by the pleasant days of the past few weeks, for there will be cold and snow in plenty before the flowers bloom again.

H. McGill, the well known slipmaker at the Union, would like to have it known that he is not the H. McGill who was fined in police court yesterday. Mr. McGill does not know any other person by that name in the city, and cannot but think someone has been impersonating him. He is a good citizen, and was never arrested.
